NIXON HANDED MAJOR VICTORY

GOV. EXON PROMISES VETO . . .

20% Tax Exemption Bill Gains Legislative Favor

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Switching signals, the Legislature Wednesday scrapped a day-old compromise personal property tax exemption plan and turned to a new alternative which would provide a 20% exemption in 1972.

Gov. J. James Exon promptly told newsmen he would veto the new proposal.

Final Day

The new plan, cantained in LB256, cannot be submitted to a final legislative vote until the 1971 session's 90th and final day, probably next Wednesday.

And Exon said he "may choose" to veto the measure after the Legislature has adjourned.

40 Votes Required

Forty votes would be required to extend the session beyond the 90th day, and there is unanimous agreement that they are not available.

The only other alternative would be to summon a special legislative session to reconsider the matter.

The new proposal, suggested by Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, would provide a 20% tax exemption for farm and business inventory and equipment in 1972.

Replacement revenue for the resulting loss in local property tax funds would produce a $9.6 million drain in sales and income tax revenue. That represents less than a 2% hike in personal income tax rates.

Would Climb To 50%

Under the new Burbach plan, the tax exemption would climb to 40% in 1973 and stablize at 50% in 1974.

The measure, a scaled-down version of LB573 which was vetoed earlier in the week, was accepted on a 28-12 vote, and sent on its way to final reading on a 28-14 count.

Thirty votes would be required to override Exon's veto. Only 28 senators voted to override the veto of LB573.

30 May Be Available

Supporters of the plan believe 30 may be available this time since four senators who voted to override the previous veto were absent and not voting Wednesday.

Exon told newsmen the personal property tax exemption dispute should be subjected to further study and considered in the 1972 session.

'Determined Effort'

"There seems to be a determined effort led by Sen. Burbach to foist onto the people of this state an increase in the sales and-or income tax rate this session," he declared.

The issue is now being considered in an atmosphere of "emotionalism and unnecessary haste," Exon said.

While he had previously pledged to cooperate with Speaker W. H. Hasebroock in submitting all his vetoes to the lawmakers in time for them to attempt to override them, the governor noted, that pledge preceded the Legislature's last two days of maneuvering with LB256.

"Since I think unfairness has been used by political maneuvering on this measure," he said, he may choose to veto the bill after senators have left town. Exon said he will visit with Hasebroock about that possibility.

Has 5 Days

Burbach's proposal was substituted for the day-old plan, proposed by Carpenter, which would have provided a 50% exemption in 1972 up to a maximum of $1,000. Several lawmakers said that plan might have proved too costly to the sales-income tax system.

The earlier bill, LB573, started with a 35% tax exemption in 1972, rising to 90% by 1978.

For: Burbach, Carpenter, Carsten, Clark, Craft, Duis, Epke, Hasebroock, Holmquist, Johnson, Kime, Kokes, Kremer, Lewis, Luedtke, Maresh, Nore, Proud, Schmit, Stromer, Stull, Waldo, Waldron, Wallwey, Warner, Whitney, Wiltse, Ziebarth.

Hope, Danger Exist In Manipulating Life

EDITOR'S NOTE — The science fiction dreams of yesteryear's pulp magazines are becoming today's facts. Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — Looming on the frontiers of biological science are such possibilities as these for new controls over human life:

—Pills that restore memory . . or make you smarter.

—Total protection against cancer.

—Means to give you 100 years of healthy, vigorous life.

—Assurance that no child need be born with any genetic defect . . . and ability to choose the sex of your child.

—Artificial duplication of prize animals, or possibly human geniuses, producing 2, 10 or 100 of them, all alike.

Science Fiction Into Fact

Science fiction? No, because some of the basic knowledge that could bring them about already has been learned. A few potentials might be realized fairly soon; others remain a scientific daydream.

But it was daydreaming once to visualize such things as antibiotics and vaccines against polio, and heart-lung machines.

With far-reaching new abilities to affect human lives almost certain to come, scientists are urging that the public start thinking ahead now as to how to assure that these abilities would be used wisely and in the best public interest.

All Smart Children?

If parents could choose to have either boys or girls, should there be some public policy interest in trying to prevent an imbalance of the sexes? If a chemical were found that could boost a child's IQ, would all children be given it, or would there be pressures for discrimination?

Taking some looks ahead:

—Within a year, British scientists may succeed in having a baby conceived in a test tube — using a human egg and sperm — then allow it to grow and divide until it was large enough — about 100 cells — to be implanted in a woman's uterus, there to develop to birth.

This could permit women who are barren due to blockage of their Fallopian tubes to have children. But some observers speculate whether it could perhaps allow a woman to hire another woman to give birth to her baby. And the sex could be determined with the

Mansfield Fails To Halve Force

. . . SENATE VOTES 61-36

Washington (AP) — The Senate handed President Nixon a major foreign-policy victory Wednesday by rejecting a series of proposals to force cuts in the 300,000-man U.S. military contingent in Europe.

In a day-long debate, Senators turned aside a variety of alternative plans before rejecting Democratic leader Mike Mansfield's proposal for a 50% cut in the European force by the end of 1971. The vote was 61 to 36.

Despite defeat of all of the troop-cut proposals, the debate disclosed broad support for making some reduction in U.S. manpower in Europe. Senators were unwilling, however, to force Nixon to make such cuts.

Since it was introduced eight days ago, the Mansfield amendment had been the subject of strong criticism in Europe as well as an all-out administration counteroffensive.

Influence Claimed

Backers claimed the amendment produced a significant improvement in the East-West climate by bringing last week's proposal by Soviet Communist Party chief Leonid Brezhnev for troop-reduction talks and the Nixon administration's response it was interested in talks.

"If the climate has changed," Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho told the Senate, "it is because the senator from Montana, Mr. Mansfield, put forth this proposal."

—68 to 29 against a proposal by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., to put language into the Mansfield amendment spelling out that any increases above the proposed 150,000-man ceiling would have to be authorized by Congress.

—81 to 15 against an amendment by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, to reduce U.S. strength in Europe to 250,000 instead of to 150,000.

—63 to 26 against a proposal by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., for a phased 50% cutback of the troops over a three-year period unless East-west talks start promptly on mutual troop withdrawals.

—81 to 13 against a move by Sen. Birch E. Bayh, D-Ind., that urged U.S. talks with its allies for greater assumption of defense costs and providing, in the absence of any agreement, for a two-part cut in the U.S. force to 150,000 by the end of 1972.

—73 to 24 against a bipartisan proposal urging U.S. talks on possible troop cuts, both with its European allies and the Communist bloc. Sponsored by Sens. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Adlai E. Stevenson III D-Ill., would have required the President to report back to Congress Sept. 15, and every six months thereafter.

Before the voting began, Mansfield again said that, even if he lost, he would raise the issue again in the future.

He said that even critical editorial comments "have contributed to the educational process" and added "I have no alibis."

The votes marked the showdown in a swift, hard fight launched by Mansfield eight days ago.

Mansfield, who like Nixon had maintained a "no compromise" position, threw his backing Wednesday morning behind Nelson's proposal.

In a speech to the Senate, he noted the criticism that his original amendment was too drastic and said Nelson's proposal, which would have brought the number of troops down to the 150,000 level by June 30, 1974, "deals very effectively with the concerns" that have been raised.

Lobbying Criticized

At the same time, he criticized the heavy administration lobbying drive and said "the responsibility to decide on troop reduction rests with the Senate at this point and not the agents and drummers of the executive branch.

"I must say," he added, "that I am somewhat perturbed by the cavalier treatment of this fundamental constitutional distinction during the past few days."

Opposing the Nelson amendment, Humphrey said it was really "the Mansfield amendment on the installment plan. It will stand in the way of any effective negotiations with the Soviet Union."

4 Arrested With Large LSD Cache

Aurora (UPI) — The State Patrol apprehended four young Omaha area men Wednesday and arrested them on illegal possession of drugs.

The four were stopped by Trooper Paul E. Harding of Aurora for failing to pay a gasoline bill at a Grand Island gas station.

The patrol said further investigation disclosed the car in which they were riding contained 4,400 LSD tablets and other quantities of hallucinogenic drugs.

The four, who were not identified pending arraignment, were 19 and 20-year-olds. Two were from Omaha and two were from Ralston.

Lowenstein Calls For Young Voters To Register And Help Defeat Nixon

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

Former New York Congressman Allard Lowenstein, urging a nationwide effort to register young voters, Wednesday said the Nixon administration can be repudiated at the polls in 1972.

"We're going to make Barry Goldwater look like a popular hero compared to Richard Nixon," Lowenstein told a University of Nebraska audience.

But he said the effort must start now with registration of newly enfranchised voters and a campaign to arm citizens with the facts about the war and domestic issues.

Lowenstein, leader of the "Dump Johnson" movement in 1968, is speaking around the country in an attempt to spark interest in the 1972 presidential race.

Recently elected chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, he is also on the faculty at Yale and lectures at the JFK School of Government at Harvard.

The nation has 25 million young people eligible to vote, Lowenstein said, as a result of federal action granting voting rights to 18-year-olds.

And those 25 million, he said, represent "one out of every five votes in this country."

Whatever the younger generation may be confused about, he suggested, "they are not confused about the war and about Richard Nixon."

"We're going to be able to take this country and turn it around in 18 months, electorally," he said. "We need a year and a half of work."

"Get everybody registered to vote,' Lowenstein urged. And "get the facts to the people so they are no longer confused."

"Think what will happen if we don't," he said.

Reviewing aspects of the Indochina war, Lowenstein said the nation has been enveloped by despair stemming from a "circle of deception" which he said has grown from deliberate attempts to confuse the American people.

The war, he suggested, "has taken the soul of this country and so tortured it, one wonders how to get it back."

But he said the success of Eugene McCarthy and Robert Kennedy in the primaries of 1968 is ample evidence that the victory can be won at the polls.

"I don't think that can happen again," he told a questioner who asked if a Chicago repeat is possible.

And he said Americans think of Nebraska as "the heartbeat of the country," urging members of the audience to begin to work for victories in 1972.

"We will either reclaim this country or we will abandon it," he said.

Heath Arrives In Paris To Discuss Market

©The New York Times

Paris — Prime Minister Edward Heath arrived here by air Wednesday evening for an Anglo-French summit meeting that both sides hope will sweep away the remains of a long-standing French veto on British entry into the European Common Market.

Heath was met at Orly Airfield by his French counterpart, Premier Jacques Chaban-Delmas. But it will be President Georges Pompidou, demonstrating his pre-eminence as policy maker, who Thursday and Friday will do most of the probing of British intentions and attempt to reach a basic accord on an enlarged European community.

The atmosphere was one of optimism on both sides as each expressed its interest in working together to build a new Europe. The optimism, for the moment, muffled dissident voices on both sides of the channel that continued to object in one way or another to the changes that Britain's abandonment of centuries of insular aloofness would bring both to herself and to the continent.

Pompidou told his cabinet this morning that he attached "great importance" to the talks. He indicated that the discussions would center on the organization and future of Europe and Britain's place in it, rather than on technical and financial problems "whose solution is normally situated in Brussels."

Upon debarking, Heath said, "It is certain that the decisions that all of us will take in the weeks to come will be decisive for the political future of Europe. It is in this spirit that I approach the talks I will have with the president of the republic."

Both men thus appeared to make it clear that the specific problems of British entry into the Common Market will not be completely resolved at the Elysee Palace, where seven hours of talks are scheduled, in addition to a working lunch and a formal dinner. The French leader is understood to be reluctant to go into the details of protection of New Zealand's exports to Britain in an expanded Common Market or the size of the British contribution to the common agricultural fund.

The French have been insisting that these were "technical questions" that were not fit subjects for a summit meeting. But of the six Common Market countries, France has been the most rigid about granting concessions on them, to the point where her partners began to wonder whether the veto that the late President De Gaulle placed on British entry had been completely lifted by his successor. There is a widespread feeling that if France and Britain can resolve their differences, the other five — West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — will follow along easily.

Pryor Says State Has Real Stake In Aging Meet

Nebraska, tied for second in the nation for the largest percentage of its population 65 and over, "has a real stake in what happens" at the White House Conference on Aging, Rep. David Pryor told Nebraskans at the Governor's Conference on Aging.

Speaking at a banquet Wednesday evening, the Arkansas Democrat said he has been very critical, not only of private institutions, but of state and national nursing home associations.

Rep. Pryor charged that the "warehouses of death" do not give patients first priority. "American nursing home associations have become mere human Ping Pong balls on the New York and American Stock exchanges," he said.

Last year the 36-year-old third term congressman volunteered to help patients in 12 Washington D.C.-area nursing homes "to see what the average life of those patients was like."

As a result, he launched a crusade for the establishment of a Select Committee on Aging in the U.S. House of Representatives. The committee would be the equivalent of the Senate Special Committee on Aging.

Of the one million residents of nursing homes in the U.S. "only 60% truly belong there," he stated.

He defined one of the "most important" problems facing the nation as "finding an alternative to keep the active elderly American in the main stream of society."

Pryor criticized the "growing tendency to isolate the elderly in one corner of our city or state . . just as we did the lepers 200 years ago."

Americans live in unreality he said. "They forget we too, someday, are going to grow old."

The Arkansas native said older Americans are becoming "the convenient forum for exercises in rhetoric. Promises keep coming for better days.

"But you can't eat promises or ride buses on promises. Now is not a time for slick answers or slick programs that don't work," he said.

According to Gov. J. James Exon, the Nebraska Governor's Conference on Aging "was convened in order to formulate policy and aciton recommendations to improve the quality of existence of Nebraska's older citizens.

The conference closes Thursday afternoon with balloting on proposed recommendations.

"I don't think that can happen again," he told a questioner who asked if a Chicago repeat is possible.

And he said Americans think of Nebraska as "the heartbeat of the country," urging members of the audience to begin to work for victories in 1972.

"We will either reclaim this country or we will abandon it," he said.

Heath Arrives In Paris To Discuss Market

©The New York Times

Paris — Prime Minister Edward Heath arrived here by air Wednesday evening for an Anglo-French summit meeting that both sides hope will sweep away the remains of a long-standing French veto on British entry into the European Common Market.

Heath was met at Orly Airfield by his French counterpart, Premier Jacques Chaban-Delmas. But it will be President Georges Pompidou, demonstrating his pre-eminence as policy maker, who Thursday and Friday will do most of the probing of British intentions and attempt to reach a basic accord on an enlarged European community.

The atmosphere was one of optimism on both sides as each expressed its interest in working together to build a new Europe. The optimism, for the moment, muffled dissident voices on both sides of the channel that continued to object in one way or another to the changes that Britain's abandonment of centuries of insular aloofness would bring both to herself and to the continent.

Pompidou told his cabinet this morning that he attached "great importance" to the talks. He indicated that the discussions would center on the organization and future of Europe and Britain's place in it, rather than on technical and financial problems "whose solution is normally situated in Brussels."

Upon debarking, Heath said, "It is certain that the decisions that all of us will take in the weeks to come will be decisive for the political future of Europe. It is in this spirit that I approach the talks I will have with the president of the republic."

Both men thus appeared to make it clear that the specific problems of British entry into the Common Market will not be completely resolved at the Elysee Palace, where seven hours of talks are scheduled, in addition to a working lunch and a formal dinner. The French leader is understood to be reluctant to go into the details of protection of New Zealand's exports to Britain in an expanded Common Market or the size of the British contribution to the common agricultural fund.

The French have been insisting that these were "technical questions" that were not fit subjects for a summit meeting. But of the six Common Market countries, France has been the most rigid about granting concessions on them, to the point where her partners began to wonder whether the veto that the late President De Gaulle placed on British entry had been completely lifted by his successor. There is a widespread feeling that if France and Britain can resolve their differences, the other five — West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — will follow along easily.

Pryor Says State Has Real Stake In Aging Meet

Nebraska, tied for second in the nation for the largest percentage of its population 65 and over, "has a real stake in what happens" at the White House Conference on Aging, Rep. David Pryor told Nebraskans at the Governor's Conference on Aging.

Speaking at a banquet Wednesday evening, the Arkansas Democrat said he has been very critical, not only of private institutions, but of state and national nursing home associations.

Rep. Pryor charged that the "warehouses of death" do not give patients first priority. "American nursing home associations have become mere human Ping Pong balls on the New York and American Stock exchanges," he said.

Last year the 36-year-old third term congressman volunteered to help patients in 12 Washington D.C.-area nursing homes "to see what the average life of those patients was like."

As a result, he launched a crusade for the establishment of a Select Committee on Aging in the U.S. House of Representatives. The committee would be the equivalent of the Senate Special Committee on Aging.

Of the one million residents of nursing homes in the U.S. "only 60% truly belong there," he stated.

He defined one of the "most important" problems facing the nation as "finding an alternative to keep the active elderly American in the main stream of society."

Pryor criticized the "growing tendency to isolate the elderly in one corner of our city or state . . just as we did the lepers 200 years ago."

Americans live in unreality he said. "They forget we too, someday, are going to grow old."

The Arkansas native said older Americans are becoming "the convenient forum for exercises in rhetoric. Promises keep coming for better days.

"But you can't eat promises or ride buses on promises. Now is not a time for slick answers or slick programs that don't work," he said.

According to Gov. J. James Exon, the Nebraska Governor's Conference on Aging "was convened in order to formulate policy and aciton recommendations to improve the quality of existence of Nebraska's older citizens.

The conference closes Thursday afternoon with balloting on proposed recommendations.

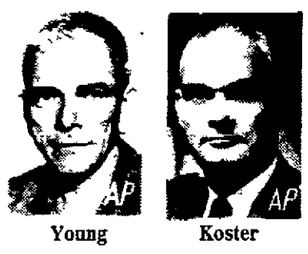
Gen. Koster Loses One Star

. . . My Lai Division Commander Censured, Stripped Of Medal

Washington (UPI) — Maj. Gen Samuel Koster, commander of the division involved at My Lai, has been demoted and censured for failing to conduct an adequate investigation of the 1968 massacre. Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor said Wednesday.



Young

Koster

Koster immediately branded the action "unfair and unjust" and hinted that "outside influence" was responsible for the decision.

Koster, 51, a former West Point commandant, also will lose his Distinguished Service Medal, Resor said.

Brig. Gen. George H. Young, 50, Koster's deputy commander at the time of the My Lai incident, will be stripped of the same medal for failure to monitor the investigation ordered by Koster. Both officers also received letters of censure.

Westmoreland's Proposal

Resor said Army Chief of Staff Gen. William B. Westmoreland recommended the sanctions against the officers and also suggested demoting Young to colonel. Resor said he overruled Young's demotion because he had been absent from certain key conversations about the investigation.

For Koster, the demotion to brigadier general means an 11% cut in pay or a loss of $308.40 per month.

Both Koster and Young already have been cleared of criminal charges in connection with My Lai. But Wednesday's action represented a slap at the soldiers' professional conduct.

Resor said the decision to punish the two officers was "difficult" but that any other action" would render essentially meaningless the concept of command responsibility accompanying senior positions of authority."

Didn't Investigate

He said that Koster, as commander of American Division, either knew, or had access to Information about "a possible tragedy of serious proportions" that occurred at My Lai March 16, 1968. But the general "did not utilize the investigative staff resources available in the division either to conduct an investigation or to review the investigations which were conducted," Resor said.

He also said Koster failed to report the civilian casualties to higher authorities.

As for Young, one of the division's two assistant commanders, Resor said he "did not exercise the degree of initiative and responsibility" expected in keeping on top of the My Lai investigation.

Informed of Resor's action, Young said, "I cannot help feeling like a political scapegoat."

Ogden Nash Is Now Dust; His Rhymes'll Never Rust

Nash underwent abdominal surgery in March at Union Memorial Hospital here. He was admitted to Hopkins on April 19 suffering from severe pneumonia and kidney failure, a hospital spokesman said.

For four decades, ever since his unusual rhyme scheme caught the eye of a New Yorker editor, Nash stuck pins in the pompous, chided the overly serious and amused everyone.

'Pot Is Not'

He kept current with the times, even updating some of his most famous doggerel to suit modern moods. In the 1960s, when marijuana usage became common, he revised his Prohibition-era couplet — "Candy is dandy, but liquor is quicker" — and added the line: "Pot is not."

Nash's satire, was a little sharp around the edges, but never bitter. Its wisdom came from a wealth of insight rather than on philosophy.

He found cheerful and flippant fault with such items as women's hats and other people's children. But the Nash irony had a mixture of tenderness and love of life that quickly won him friends.

Nash often wondered aloud about what had become of humor.

'We Need Humor'

"Today's coming writers seem to neglect humor — except for the artificial, situation-comedy variety," he said. "They all seem to go off on long, serious dissertations on the world's problems. I can't understand it. In these trying times we need humor to get our minds off our troubles."

Nash didn't neglect the problems of the times with his humor. One of his most famous verses championed the environment long before ecology became a household word:

"I think that I shall never see

Perhaps unless the billboards fall

I'll never see a tree at all."

The titles of his poems were often as much of a delight as the poems themselves:

"All Good Americans Go to Larousse, or I Don't Pretend to be Moliere than Thou;" "Who Put That Spokesman in My Wheel;" "The Quack Frown Sox Lumps Over the — or Farewell, Phi Beta Kafka," and "Very Nice, Rembrandt, but How About a Little More Color."

Some of his verses were complete and quatrains that, once heard, ran through the mind over and over at the oddest moments:

"Celery, raw
Develops the jaw.
But celery stewed,

Hope And Peril Exist In Manipulation Of Life

fetus in the test tube stage. If it was the "wrong" sex, would parents ask that its development be stopped?

—A baby's sex can be determined before birth already, by examining amniotic fluid cells cast off from the fetus. If this practice came into wider use, parents might press for abortion of the "wrong" sex.

—Fetal cells can be examined already for certain chromosomal abnormalties indicating whether the infant would have certain genetic abnormalities. It may become possible to detect a variety of such abnormalities to prevent the birth of defective children.

—A bit of genetic engineering known as cloning may permit production of unlimited living carbon copies of a prize steer or other animal, or perhaps eventually even human beings. Each body cell contains all the genetic information to become any kind of cell, rather than some specialist cell. In cloning, the nucleus of a body cell is put into an egg cell, one from which the nucleus has been removed, and the egg begins to divide and grow, and could become a mature animal, identical to the one whose cell was used. British scientists have produced a living frog by his technique, but it would be technically more difficult to accomplish this with the smaller cells of mammals.

—Genetic engineering may make it possible to substitute a "healthy" gene for one that is defective and producing some disease, such as diabetes. Far, far off might be the ability to engineer a human being superior in intellect and physique to today's man.

—Solutions to the problems of cancer lie basically within the genetic machinery of cells. Perhaps there is a cancer virus which takes over control of a cell, a virus against which a vaccine might be prepared.

—In meticulous research, Dr. C. H. Li and associates of the University of California at San Francisco recently succeeded in synthesizing human growth hormone. When supplies become available, many children might be saved from becoming dwarfs for lack of their own hormone. If antagonists to growth hormone are found, other children could be prevented from growing too tall. Further, it might be a weapon against cancer, which is marked by uncontrolled growth.

—Growth hormone injected into pregnant rats makes their offspring smarter, with a 30% increase in brain cells, Dr. Stephen Zamenhof of the University of California at Los Angeles finds. If it could make human children smarter, should every mother have the right to receive it?

Plumbing The Brain

The new Mt. Everest in biological research is the attempt to understand how the human brain functions . . . how does a thought originate, or an emotion . . . does memory represent an electrical charge or chemical change or both . . . what goes wrong to produce mental illness?. . .

It is an incredibly difficult challenge, this attempt by man to fathom his own brain.

But it is attracting increased effort and talent, including molecular biologists such as Dr. James D. Watson of Harvard and Cold Spring Harbor, N.Y.; Francis Crick of Cambridge, England, and Dr. Marshall Nirenberg of the National Institutes of Health, all Nobel men. Three scientific organizations dealing with brain chemistry and research were formed within the last year.

Learning Transferred

A score of laboratories have reported experimental success in transferring learning experiences from one animal to another. The animals are trained to do some particular task, such as learning their way through a maze. Then extracts from their brains are injected into other animals of the same species, with the recipients reportedly showing evidence of having learned specific information through the transfer or extract.

At Baylor University, Dr. Georges Ungar and associates, in one of the latest such studies into the mechanism of memory, trained rats to be afraid of the dark. Their brain extracts made other rats afraid of the dark, they said. Recently this team reported having isolated and then synthesized the "fear of darkness" memory molecule.

Others researchers, among them Dr. James Olds now at the California Institute of Technology and Dr. Jose Delgado of Yale University, have shown that electrical stimulation of the brain can bring on such reactions as activating a pleasure center in the brain, and other centers, and Dr. Delgado has used remote control radio signals beamed at electrodes implanted in the brain to bring a charging bull to a quiet halt.

Capturing Another Brain?

All this is a beginning to make possible new ways of perhaps curing disease and giving rich new experiences, or capturing someone else's brain.

Psychologist David Krech of the University of California at Berkeley is impressed, like others in brain research, with the frustrating complexity of the human thinking machine.

Says Dr. Krech: "Understanding the atom is child's play compared with understanding child's play."

Trains Rolling Again

Washington (UPI) — Freight and passenger trains rolled again under congressional edict Wednesday after a two-day signalmen's strike that finally broke the ice on President Nixon's long-standing request for permanent new powers to cope with transportation crises.

Under pressure from two senators who opposed the latest emergency intervention to end a rail tieup, Sen. Harrison A. Williams, Jr., D-N.J., reversed his previous stand and agreed to start hearings next month on Nixon's 15-month-old proposa for averting further total shu downs in the U.S. railroa system.

Picket lines were withdrav and most trains across t country were back in operati a few hours after the Preside signed legislation Tuesday nig ordering the signalmen back work at least until Oct. 1 a providing them an avera 13.5% pay increase, pa retroactive to Jan. 1, 1970 a part to Nov. 1, 1970.

Negro Sheriff Is Acquitted

After 65 minutes of deliberations Wednesday, the jury returned separate verdicts finding Amerson, 37, and Chief Deputy Richard Coleman Jr., 27, innocent of violating the civil rights of the prisoner, Wilbert Dean Harris.

The two officers were indicted by a federal grand jury after Harris complained that he was beaten and kicked after he surrendered following the shootout in the Macon County jail in nearby Tuskegee last Aug. 22. Harris had been brought to the jail after being arrested on drunk driving charges.

Amerson, who took office in January 1967 as the first black sheriff in Alabama since Reconstruction days, said after the trial that he felt the verdict from the jury of seven men and five women "indicated justice can prevail and did prevail."

He said he felt the absence of Negroes on the jury was a "tremendous opportunity to show the people throughout the world that there was no race in this thing."

Mars Shot Is Launched By Russians

Moscow (AP) — The Soviet Union announced Thursday it has launched a space shot toward Mars and expects it to reach the planet next November.

Named Mars-2 and described as an automatic interplanetary station, the probe was launched in the Soviet Union Wednesday the official news agency Tass reported.

The United States had scheduled two attempts to photograph Mars closeup this year, but one failed early in its mission.

"The flight of the interplanetary station Mars-2 to the planet Mars will continue for more than six months, Tass said.

A Moscow radio announcement said the station weighs more than four tons and will cover a distance of nearly 300 million miles to reach the vicinity of Mars.

The Soviet Union's first spacebot aimed at Mars was Mars-1 launched in November 1962. Radio contact with it was lost.

Baltimore (AP) — Ogden Nash, whose broken-line limericks poked fun at everything from morality to vegetables, died Wednesday at Johns Hopkins Hospital. He was 68.

Nash underwent abdominal surgery in March at Union Memorial Hospital here. He was admitted to Hopkins on April 19 suffering from severe pneumonia and kidney failure, a hospital spokesman said.

For four decades, ever since his unusual rhyme scheme caught the eye of a New Yorker editor, Nash stuck pins in the pompous, chided the overly serious and amused everyone.

'Pot Is Not'

He kept current with the times, even updating some of his most famous doggerel to suit modern moods. In the 1960s, when marijuana usage became common, he revised his Prohibition-era couplet — "Candy is dandy, but liquor is quicker" — and added the line: "Pot is not."

Nash's satire, was a little sharp around the edges, but never bitter. Its wisdom came from a wealth of insight rather than on philosophy.

He found cheerful and flippant fault with such items as women's hats and other people's children. But the Nash irony had a mixture of tenderness and love of life that quickly won him friends.

Nash often wondered aloud about what had become of humor.

'We Need Humor'

"Today's coming writers seem to neglect humor — except for the artificial, situation-comedy variety," he said. "They all seem to go off on long, serious dissertations on the world's problems. I can't understand it. In these trying times we need humor to get our minds off our troubles."

Nash didn't neglect the problems of the times with his humor. One of his most famous verses championed the environment long before ecology became a household word:

"I think that I shall never see

Perhaps unless the billboards fall

I'll never see a tree at all."

The titles of his poems were often as much of a delight as the poems themselves:

"All Good Americans Go to Larousse, or I Don't Pretend to be Moliere than Thou;" "Who Put That Spokesman in My Wheel;" "The Quack Frown Sox Lumps Over the — or Farewell, Phi Beta Kafka," and "Very Nice, Rembrandt, but How About a Little More Color."

Some of his verses were complete and quatrains that, once heard, ran through the mind over and over at the oddest moments:

"Celery, raw
Develops the jaw.
But celery stewed,

Hope And Peril Exist In Manipulation Of Life

fetus in the test tube stage. If it was the "wrong" sex, would parents ask that its development be stopped?

—A baby's sex can be determined before birth already, by examining amniotic fluid cells cast off from the fetus. If this practice came into wider use, parents might press for abortion of the "wrong" sex.

—Fetal cells can be examined already for certain chromosomal abnormalties indicating whether the infant would have certain genetic abnormalities. It may become possible to detect a variety of such abnormalities to prevent the birth of defective children.

—A bit of genetic engineering known as cloning may permit production of unlimited living carbon copies of a prize steer or other animal, or perhaps eventually even human beings. Each body cell contains all the genetic information to become any kind of cell, rather than some specialist cell. In cloning, the nucleus of a body cell is put into an egg cell, one from which the nucleus has been removed, and the egg begins to divide and grow, and could become a mature animal, identical to the one whose cell was used. British scientists have produced a living frog by his technique, but it would be technically more difficult to accomplish this with the smaller cells of mammals.

—Genetic engineering may make it possible to substitute a "healthy" gene for one that is defective and producing some disease, such as diabetes. Far, far off might be the ability to engineer a human being superior in intellect and physique to today's man.

—Solutions to the problems of cancer lie basically within the genetic machinery of cells. Perhaps there is a cancer virus which takes over control of a cell, a virus against which a vaccine might be prepared.

—In meticulous research, Dr. C. H. Li and associates of the University of California at San Francisco recently succeeded in synthesizing human growth hormone. When supplies become available, many children might be saved from becoming dwarfs for lack of their own hormone. If antagonists to growth hormone are found, other children could be prevented from growing too tall. Further, it might be a weapon against cancer, which is marked by uncontrolled growth.

—Growth hormone injected into pregnant rats makes their offspring smarter, with a 30% increase in brain cells, Dr. Stephen Zamenhof of the University of California at Los Angeles finds. If it could make human children smarter, should every mother have the right to receive it?

Plumbing The Brain

The new Mt. Everest in biological research is the attempt to understand how the human brain functions . . . how does a thought originate, or an emotion . . . does memory represent an electrical charge or chemical change or both . . . what goes wrong to produce mental illness?. . .

It is an incredibly difficult challenge, this attempt by man to fathom his own brain.

But it is attracting increased effort and talent, including molecular biologists such as Dr. James D. Watson of Harvard and Cold Spring Harbor, N.Y.; Francis Crick of Cambridge, England, and Dr. Marshall Nirenberg of the National Institutes of Health, all Nobel men. Three scientific organizations dealing with brain chemistry and research were formed within the last year.

Learning Transferred

A score of laboratories have reported experimental success in transferring learning experiences from one animal to another. The animals are trained to do some particular task, such as learning their way through a maze. Then extracts from their brains are injected into other animals of the same species, with the recipients reportedly showing evidence of having learned specific information through the transfer or extract.

At Baylor University, Dr. Georges Ungar and associates, in one of the latest such studies into the mechanism of memory, trained rats to be afraid of the dark. Their brain extracts made other rats afraid of the dark, they said. Recently this team reported having isolated and then synthesized the "fear of darkness" memory molecule.

Others researchers, among them Dr. James Olds now at the California Institute of Technology and Dr. Jose Delgado of Yale University, have shown that electrical stimulation of the brain can bring on such reactions as activating a pleasure center in the brain, and other centers, and Dr. Delgado has used remote control radio signals beamed at electrodes implanted in the brain to bring a charging bull to a quiet halt.

Capturing Another Brain?

All this is a beginning to make possible new ways of perhaps curing disease and giving rich new experiences, or capturing someone else's brain.

Psychologist David Krech of the University of California at Berkeley is impressed, like others in brain research, with the frustrating complexity of the human thinking machine.

Says Dr. Krech: "Understanding the atom is child's play compared with understanding child's play."

Trains Rolling Again

Washington (UPI) — Freight and passenger trains rolled again under congressional edict Wednesday after a two-day signalmen's strike that finally broke the ice on President Nixon's long-standing request for permanent new powers to cope with transportation crises.

Under pressure from two senators who opposed the latest emergency intervention to end a rail tieup, Sen. Harrison A. Williams, Jr., D-N.J., reversed his previous stand and agreed to start hearings next month on Nixon's 15-month-old proposals for averting further total shutdowns in the U.S. railroad system.

Picket lines were withdrawn and most trains across the country were back in operation a few hours after the President signed legislation Tuesday night ordering the signalmen back to work at least until Oct. 1 and providing them an average 13.5% pay increase, part retroactive to Jan. 1, 1970 and part to Nov. 1, 1970.

Negro Sheriff Is Acquitted

After 65 minutes of deliberations Wednesday, the jury returned separate verdicts finding Amerson, 37, and Chief Deputy Richard Coleman Jr., 27, innocent of violating the civil rights of the prisoner, Wilbert Dean Harris.

The two officers were indicted by a federal grand jury after Harris complained that he was beaten and kicked after he surrendered following the shootout in the Macon County jail in nearby Tuskegee last Aug. 22. Harris had been brought to the jail after being arrested on drunk driving charges.

Amerson, who took office in January 1967 as the first black sheriff in Alabama since Reconstruction days, said after the trial that he felt the verdict from the jury of seven men and five women "indicated justice can prevail and did prevail."

He said he felt the absence of Negroes on the jury was a "tremendous opportunity to show the people throughout the world that there was no race in this thing."

Mars Shot Is Launched By Russians

Moscow (AP) — The Soviet Union announced Thursday it has launched a space shot toward Mars and expects it to reach the planet next November.

Named Mars-2 and described as an automatic interplanetary station, the probe was launched in the Soviet Union Wednesday the official news agency Tass reported.

The United States had scheduled two attempts to photograph Mars closeup this year, but one failed early in its mission.

"The flight of the interplanetary station Mars-2 to the planet Mars will continue for more than six months, Tass said.

A Moscow radio announcement said the station weighs more than four tons and will cover a distance of nearly 300 million miles to reach the vicinity of Mars.

The Soviet Union's first spaceshot aimed at Mars was Mars-1 launched in November 1962. Radio contact with it was lost.

Progress, Growth Mark Mid-Plains Operation

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Indeed, motorists by the thousands do breeze past its auspicious block-long building every day. But school officials, located at the intersection of I-80 and U.S. 83 at the southeast edge of town, prefer to think of themselves as "right in the mainstream of things."

An area concept institution supported by 10 counties, Mid-Plains today is a spectacular contrast to the pioneer operation which opened in a small library 2½ years ago. Some 180 day students and 230 night part-timers keep the new place bustling.

"We were like sardines in a can when we had only the old library and a renovated warehouse," said President Kenneth L. Aten. "Now we have 55 acres on this site alone, plus the old facilities."

Construction should begin in a year or so which will double the space of the new building. The $1 million structure will then cover a full square block.

Health Occupations

Two innovational courses, one just begun and the other scheduled for next fall, should help enrollment boom from the present 180 to 300. Both fit in with the school's emphasis on health occupations.

Thirty-four students are now enrolled in practical nursing, a program utilizing the former library. It was the first such course licensed in the state. The other claims even more distinction.

"The optometric assistant classes we plan to start next fall are believed to be only the third in the nation," said Aten. "We've already had a good showing of interest."

Most popular courses now for the school's predominantly male enrollment, according to Dean of Students James E. Doyle, are auto and diesel mechanics, electronics and drafting. The mechanics students still utilize the downtown warehouse.

Night adult classes, incidentally, have drawn from 200 to 300 students ever since the school opened. Supplementing classes at North Platte have been others in Broken Bow, Grant, Ogallala, and McCook.

The school is supported by a 1.75 mill levy in Lincoln, Arthur, Perkins, Keith, Dundy, Chase, Red Willow, Thomas, Custer and Logan counties.

The tract for the new quarters was a gift of Victor Halligan, retired North Platte attorney and former University of Nebraska football All-American.

Lutherans Urge Continued Withdrawal Of U.S. Troops

Omaha (AP) — The Nebraska Synod of the Lutheran Church in America has adopted a resolution urging a "continued effort for the withdrawal of all American troops from Indochina."

The resolution approved by delegates to the Nebraska Synod's convention here, also commended President Nixon and Congress for their efforts to end U.S. participation in the war.

The delegates, representing 165 Lutheran congregations throughout the state, also adopted a resolution asking the LCA to take steps to organize and implement a program of aid and services to the people of Indochina.

In other action, an operating budget of $1,226,964 was approved for 1972, an increase of about 4% from 1971.

The Rev. Lawrence D. Fruhling, pastor of Our Redeemer Lutheran Church in Omaha, was named to a two-year term as secretary of the synod.

5 NU Students Jailed Following Narcotics Raid

Five University of Nebraska students were jailed Wednesday night following a raid at Schramm Hall by the NU Campus Police, the Lincoln Police Department and the Drug Division of the State Patrol, according to a spokesman for the agencies.

The spokesman said that a quantity of marijuana, a substance believed to be LSD, pills, tablets and drug paraphenalia were found in the rooms.

A Lincoln police official stated that this was just a portion of an investigation which has been going on for a period of seven weeks and that more arrests are expected.

Fire Destroying School Is Blamed On Lightning Bolt

Beemer (UPI) — A fire which destroyed District 3 school near here Tuesday is believed to have been started by lightning, authorities said Wednesday.

The school, which housed 17 pupils, was destroyed with all its contents. All the desks and equipment were new this year, officials said. The school had been reopened last fall after having been closed for four years.

Only two days of school remained on the schedule.

On Sunday the college will dedicate its new $1.2 million Communications Center which includes the Perkins Library and the Rapp Media Center.

On Sunday at 8 p.m. Miss Judith Allen, Doane's affiliate artist from New York City, will give a "Recital of Songs by American Composers."

On Monday, Dr. Randall T. Klemme, vice president and corporate economist of Northern Natural Gas Company, will deliver the commencement address.

Dr. Klemme, Dorothy Maynor of New York City and Dr. Culver H. Nelson of Phoenix, Ariz. will be awarded honorary degrees.

Platte River High Water Briefing Given Senators

By TIM AHERN
Associated Press Writer

A state Civil Defense official predicted Wednesday that adverse weather conditions on the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains and along the Platte River could cause flooding "worse than the floods along the Elkhorn River" last winter.

Col. Burl Johnson, the state assistant Civil Defense director made the comment in a briefing to state senators regarding the high water situation along the Platte.

A near-record snowpack in the Rockies, followed by the spring runoff, has caused some local flooding along the North and South Platte rivers and Gov. J. James Exon has declared that a state of emergency exists along the river.

"Adverse weather conditions such as a hard local rain, or a moderate general rain, and a combination of weather conditions could cause a catastrophe," Johnson told the senators.

He said five of the six reservoirs built to divert water along the North Platte are at near-capacity.

'Little Margin For Safety'

"The river will be running at near-capacity all summer," he explained, "and there will be little margin for safety."

He estimated the snowpack along the upper reaches of the North Platte at 175% of normal or "near-record."

Johnson said federal and state officials have held a series of meetings to plan possible routes of action should flooding occur.

"The state is doing what it should right now," he said.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff told the group he had met with Exon about the situation and said there is now $1.5 million in the governor's disaster fund and "that should take care of everybody."

Johnson said there was a meeting Wednesday in Cheyenne, Wyo., called by the federal office of emergency preparedness, to coordinate efforts in the event of a flood.

"There are three things that could happen," he said, "There could be no further flooding, there could be a catastrophe, or there could be a series of serious floods over the next several months, none of which are serious enough to warrant federal aid."

Johnson estimated 2.5 million acre feet of water would melt from the snows into the North Platte and said officials have told him they plan to use about two million feet for purposes such as irrigation, leaving a half-million feet to flow down the river.

No Moves Planned

Atlanta (UPI) — Atty. Gen. John Mitchell indicated the Justice Department plans no major moves to force southern school districts to use busing to accomplish desegregation.

Accident Kills Youth, Baby

McCool Junction (AP) A head-on auto crash near here Wednesday claimed two lives.

York County Attorney Joseph McCluskey said Gordon Loseke, 21, of Columbus, and Marlee Luebbe, 11 months, of Waco, died when two cars met head-on on Highway 81, 1.4 miles north of McCool Junction.

McCluskey said Loseke was alone in his car and the child was riding in the family car. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Luebbe of Waco and two other Luebbe children were hospitalized at York.

The county attorney said the two cars met on an open stretch of highway.

Andrew Parish Dies Of Injuries Following Crash

North Platte (AP) — A 16-year-old North Platte youth died in a hospital here Wednesday night from injuries suffered after his motorcycle was in collision with a truck.

He was Andrew Parish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garold Parish. He was a sophomore at North Platte High School.

North Platte police said Parish's cycle was leaving the driveway of a drive-in when it was in collision with the truck. The truck driver's name was not immediately available.

The 1971 Nebraska traffic fatality toll now stands at 127 compared with 126 on this date a year ago.

Tractor Accident Fatal To Woman

The State Patrol received a delayed report of the death of Josephine Boelter, 53, of Page. She died of injuries suffered in a farm tractor accident on a county road four miles north and five miles east of Page.

Officers said she was riding on a farm tractor driven by her husband, Francis Boelter, March 31 when she fell off and was run over by a hay sled.

Trinity Baptist Tells Plans For Groundbreaking

The building committee at Trinity Baptist Church announced Wednesday during the annual business meeting that groundbreaking activities for a new building will "probably take place within the coming fiscal year," the Rev. Mr. Emery Holzworth reported.

He said parishioners adopted a budget of $19,059 for the coming year.

New officers at the church are Keith Surface, vice chairman; Mrs. Dean Wilson, church clerk; Keith Cockrell, treasurer; Bob Mills Jr., Sunday School superintendent; Judy Carver, historian, and Mrs. Brian Erickson, librarian.

Dr. G. Christian Weiff was selected deacon and Mrs. Erickson was named deaconess. Fred Tunell is trustee and the Rev. Mr. Leslie Frank is a new member of the Christian education board.

Progress, Growth Mark Mid-Plains Operation

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Indeed, motorists by the thousands do breeze past its auspicious block-long building every day. But school officials, located at the intersection of I-80 and U.S. 83 at the southeast edge of town, prefer to think of themselves as "right in the mainstream of things."

An area concept institution supported by 10 counties, Mid-Plains today is a spectacular contrast to the pioneer operation which opened in a small library 2½ years ago. Some 180 day students and 230 night part-timers keep the new place bustling.

"We were like sardines in a can when we had only the old library and a renovated warehouse," said President Kenneth L. Aten. "Now we have 55 acres on this site alone, plus the old facilities."

Construction should begin in a year or so which will double the space of the new building. The $1 million structure will then cover a full square block.

Health Occupations

Two innovational courses, one just begun and the other scheduled for next fall, should help enrollment boom from the present 180 to 300. Both fit in with the school's emphasis on health occupations.

Thirty-four students are now enrolled in practical nursing, a program utilizing the former library. It was the first such course licensed in the state. The other claims even more distinction.

"The optometric assistant classes we plan to start next fall are believed to be only the third in the nation," said Aten. "We've already had a good showing of interest."

Most popular courses now for the school's predominantly male enrollment, according to Dean of Students James E. Doyle, are auto and diesel mechanics, electronics and drafting. The mechanics students still utilize the downtown warehouse.

Night adult classes, incidentally, have drawn from 200 to 300 students ever since the school opened. Supplementing classes at North Platte have been others in Broken Bow, Grant, Ogallala, and McCook.

The school is supported by a 1.75 mill levy in Lincoln, Arthur, Perkins, Keith, Dundy, Chase, Red Willow, Thomas, Custer and Logan counties.

The tract for the new quarters was a gift of Victor Halligan, retired North Platte attorney and former University of Nebraska football All-American.

Platte River High Water Briefing Given Senators

By TIM AHERN
Associated Press Writer

A state Civil Defense official predicted Wednesday that adverse weather conditions on the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains and along the Platte River could cause flooding "worse than the floods along the Elkhorn River" last winter.

Col. Burl Johnson, the state assistant Civil Defense director made the comment in a briefing to state senators regarding the high water situation along the Platte.

A near-record snowpack in the Rockies, followed by the spring runoff, has caused some local flooding along the North and South Platte rivers and Gov. J. James Exon has declared that a state of emergency exists along the river.

"Adverse weather conditions such as a hard local rain, or a moderate general rain, and a combination of weather conditions could cause a catastrophe," Johnson told the senators.

He said five of the six reservoirs built to divert water along the North Platte are at near-capacity.

'Little Margin For Safety'

"The river will be running at near-capacity all summer," he explained, "and there will be little margin for safety."

He estimated the snowpack along the upper reaches of the North Platte at 175% of normal or "near-record."

Johnson said federal and state officials have held a series of meetings to plan possible routes of action should flooding occur.

"The state is doing what it should right now," he said.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff told the group he had met with Exon about the situation and said there is now $1.5 million in the governor's disaster fund and "that should take care of everybody."

Johnson said there was a meeting Wednesday in Cheyenne, Wyo., called by the federal office of emergency preparedness, to coordinate efforts in the event of a flood.

"There are three things that could happen," he said, "There could be no further flooding, there could be a catastrophe, or there could be a series of serious floods over the next several months, none of which are serious enough to warrant federal aid."

Johnson estimated 2.5 million acre feet of water would melt from the snows into the North Platte and said officials have told him they plan to use about two million feet for purposes such as irrigation, leaving a half-million feet to flow down the river.

Mrs. John Curtis of Summit, N.J., daughter of the first president of Doane College, David Brainerd Perry, will give the address.

Doane was founded in 1872 and will officially begin observance of its centennial on July 12.

At 2 p.m. on Saturday Dr. Gerhart Wiebe, dean of the school of public communication at Boston University, will give a major paper at the alumni symposium.

Fire Destroying School Is Blamed On Lightning Bolt

Beemer (UPI) — A fire which destroyed District 3 school near here Tuesday is believed to have been started by lightning, authorities said Wednesday.

Only two days of school remained on the schedule.

EVENTS
IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

How can the governor of Nebraska be both right and wrong in the spending of state funds and the Legislature in the same category? Whether they are right or wrong, of course, depends upon your own appraisal of things but that is the position they are in, from our point of view.

The Legislature has adopted a little more realistic budget than Governor James Exon recommended, although not by much. Even that small improvement in the budget might dissipate in the face of smaller cash and federal incomes being realized than the Legislature has anticipated.

While the state is not spending enough, Exon is against spending more while the Legislature favors more. Thus, if we favor more spending, we ought to favor the Legislature but such is not the situation.

The Legislature is intent in some areas on spending money in the wrong way while the governor is trying to conserve dollars in some appropriate ways. For instance, the governor, through a veto, has successfully stopped the planned exemption of a large share of personal property taxes on farm and business inventories and equipment.

The governor is right because this, in effect, is a state spending program we cannot afford. It would hike the sale and income tax rates to reimburse local governments for loss of the property tax income.

Thus, the state would be spending money for which there would be no return in terms of improved services. And the tax shift involved is one of little real equity. Some small farmers and businessmen may be suffering from the property tax but by and large, the tax is no more a hardship or an inequity than are the taxes paid by all of us.

In another area, the Legislature has passed a bill increasing state aid to education by $50 million and directing the state to issue $3 million in highway construction bonds.

Once again, the governor has promised to veto both measures. With his vote power, the governor is turning the Legislature into a body requiring a 3-5 majority to do business.

But the governor is correct with his veto in at least one of the above two cases. He is on sound ground in vetoing the $50 million in added state aid to schools.

It can be argued effectively that state aid to schools in the past has reduced local property tax levies. While we think it has done this to some extent, the argument is not one that can be backed up with solid facts. To buy the argument, you have to assume that the schools would have spent, without state aid, all the money they have spent with it.

We don't believe this. We believe that without state aid, the schools would have spent less money and that the same thing is true at this moment. The schools of Nebraska will never appropriate through the property tax an amount equal to the extra $50 million they would get from the Legislature through state aid.

Without state aid's being increased, the schools will tighten their spending belts a little, which is a good idea. With such aid, the schools are effectively relieved of their usual tax accountability to the citizens. Such aid gives the schools a big cash income with nobody in particular to account to for it.

Again, if we had plenty of money to go around, it would not be a bad idea to give the schools more state aid but this is not the case today. The state is hard pressed for money, as are all local governmental units, and the best way to get the most out of every dollar is to retain local tax responsibility.

We just can't afford to surrender this responsibility at a time when demands for spending are as great as they are today. The highway bonds would, in effect, reimburse the state for funds it would divert to counties as a result of a new formula for the distribution of certain user fee income. income.

While the governor should study this proposal carefully before vetoing it, the Legislature would have been better off to make the issue permissive rather than mandatory. Obviously, the governor's free-wheeling use of the veto is making political life complicated but it certainly isn't all bad.

'It Only Hurts When I Laugh!'

Heads In The Sand

Last week the Pershing Municipal Auditorium Advisory Board took a silent poll by paper ballot to determine the board members' interest in allowing the rock musical "Hair" to be presented at the auditorium. The vote came out 3-2 against the musical. Two members of the seven-member board were absent. The issue will possibly be brought up again at a future meeting. We hope so, with the full board taking a stand on whether it intends to censor entertainment for Lincolnites.

The issue is much larger than one musical, which may have become a passe thing, even in these hinterlands. Apparently there is still a feeling among some members of the board that "Hair" isn't the type of entertainment that should be brought to Lincoln. We will forgive them their own personal tastes if only they would give other Lincolnites the opportunity to see what they want to see.

After the March meeting at which the matter was initially discussed, the board put off a decision on "Hair" until Auditorium Manager Ivan Hoig could talk with other managers about the musical's acceptance at other municipal auditoriums.

Hoig reported last week that he did not feel there would be any adverse reaction to the musical, basing his comments on the experience of others with the show. Hoig said that according to conversations with the manager at St. Paul, Minn., "Hair" did not generate any controversy or problems and that during a two-week showing in a theater with a capacity of 2,700, the musical grossed $500,000.

As a sample of the opinion of Lincolnites, Hoig reports that fully 90% of the letters received at Pershing favor the performance of "Hair" at the auditorium.

Ideally, a municipal auditorium should be used as a meeting place for groups representative of the community and for the presentation of entertainment palatable, at one time or another, to all segments of the citizenry. This — all one has to do is go down the long list of acts and events held there — Pershing has done. It is hard to understand, then, why the board would be so improverished in spirit as to deny those who wanted to do so the opportunity to see a classic of its kind.

The production company is still interested in filling an autumn date at Pershing. It is hoped that the board will change its position and allow a controversial musical to stand on its own merits in Lincoln.

Burger Pleads For Civility

There is a tendency on the part of many people, ourselves included, to read things political into the off-the-bench statements by Chief Justice Warren Burger. He is, after all, the cornerstone of a new Supreme Court being built by President Nixon for largely political motives.

And he has exhibited at times a mistrust and intolerance of political and social philosophies different from his own that are so much a part of other creations of the President, Vice President Agnew among them. As in remarks following a speech this week to the American Law Institute in which he said that some lawyers, the news media, legislators and even judges were creating a "20th Century version of Know-Nothingism . . ." an "atmosphere of incivility" that pervaded England and America a century ago.

But Burger said something that needed saying from his quarter when in that speech he scolded "a tiny fragment of reckless, irresponsible lawyers . . . lawyers with more adrenalin than judgment," seemingly bent on destroying the American judicial system, who exclaim that theirs is a political trial.

Burger is not talking about those lawyers who privately or publicly espouse unpopular causes per se, but about those who, in defense of clients claiming that political repression is being used against them, bring the riots and demonstrations in off the streets and turn the courtroom into a circus.

"This seems to mean in today's context, at least to some," the chief justice said, "that rules of evidence, canons of ethics and codes of professional conduct — the necessity for civility — all become irrelevant."

It would seem that common sense and civility have returned to the courtroom, at least as compared to some antics of the past few years. Burger's complaint can serve a useful purpose, nevertheless.

Letters To The Editor

Brevity in letters is requested but length in itself will have no bearing on publication. Writers are advised that needless details and repetitious matter will be edited out of letters. Too frequent contributions from one person on the same subject may be rejected. All letters must be accompanied by writer's true name but may be submitted for publication under a pen name or initials. However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials at the editor's discretion.

Two Wrongs

Blair, Neb.

If by some miracle peace were to be declared in Vietnam, how long would it take to complete the withdrawal of the vast bulk of our troops in that theater? This is the amount of time which should be given to our President, beginning at once, to complete such a withdrawal. No more-

The time table imposed by this national administration, in completing their "Vietnamization" gimmick, has become the biggest political hoax of all time! Isn't it some kind of a coincidence that it has been set up to correspond with a national election in the United States? This, after the generally accepted fact that we have lost the war, and that perhaps we never should have become involved in it. The most recent self-interest to be interjected into the picture is oil. Has this been it all along?

Our church leaders can no longer support this war, if they ever did. Our economic leaders cannot support the war in conscience. No one can really support it from the face-saving angle, or to keep defense jobs.

It makes no difference who started the war. Two wrongs cannot make a right.

Bless The Young

Comstock, Neb.

In your "In Perspective" of May 18, I'm afraid the Russian, Chinese and Cuban goblins are going to get you. Never fear of anything but your own prejudices. Where would these countries be today under their old capitalistic systems of exploitation from within and without? You surely have to admit China has come a long way since kicking us out in 1949. Their mistake is going to be in letting us in again, CIA and all.

Our rape of Cuba has ended but not our embargo. God bless them. The Sputnik and space platform may open our eyes. The Army, Navy and Air Force are bombing and burning small countries into submission, plus our CIA infiltrating most of the world.

Better start dreaming of billions being sunk to exploit the world and our own people, the $5.5 billion deficit in the last three months, or the favoritism to big business, national and state. Better wake up before it's too late.

Get realistic. Get behind our governor, or would you rather have Tiemann again and add another million for the bread-and-butter people to cough up?

May God bless our young people and help us old fogies to see the greed and selfishness which is destroying our country. They couldn't make a bigger mess of things than we have sabotaging their efforts.

Helmet Bill

Lincoln, Neb.

Amendment processes have placed a motorcycle helmet bill, LB1141, in the hopper again. This is the same bill that the governor vetoed, minus the emergency clause. It provides for the mandatory wearing of regulation helmets by operators and passengers of motorcycles on public roads.

This time the citizens should voice their opinions to the governor and legislators. Nine have already died from head injuries this year; none had helmets. Many others lie in the hospital with critical injuries. Lincoln has witnessed a tragic panorama of accidents: three dead, teen-age boys and girls and even a small child lie in hospitals with devastating injuries. Many will be paralyzed and some will spend their lives in a vegetable state because there was nothing between them and the ground.

Claiming that helmet regulation is a violation of their constitutional rights, cyclists have barraged the legislators and recently the governor. Their reasoning is spurious, unsupported judicially. Forty states have helmet laws. Eleven out of 12 challenges to state supreme courts have failed. The U.S. Supreme Court refuses to hear such a case, stating that "a constitutional question is not involved." The Nebraska attorney general gave an affirmative opinion for mandatory helmets to the Legislature.

The public suffers from private folly. Until a cyclist crashes out of the public view, cleans up his own accident and then bears the ensuing expenses, he should be subject to public control. The Nebraska Women for Highway Safety sponsored the helmet bill because we are women who are concerned about the disproportionate death and injury rate of motorcyclists.

Patchwork Prairie Country

This is a morning of all mornings with the smell of freshly cut grass coming through the open door. It is a pungent odor of green juices wilting in the warm May sunshine. To add to this, the heady scent of lilacs is filling the air. For more than a week now, their sweet fragrance has been filling the air. Because of the recent cool weather and moisture, it looks as if they will be here for another week or ten days.

There is nothing, absolutely nothing that equals the sweet essence of lilac blossoms blowing in the wind. Any wind will do: a random wind that sneaks across the years, a lilting wind that waltzes slowly through the gate or a brisk wind that darts by with a quick hop, skip and a jump. But the wind that blows the best is a soft, nostalgic wind that fills the mind with other springs and lilac fragrance.

Whenever I catch the scent of lilacs, I think of the year I graduated in the thirties. The class colors were lavender-blue and silver. We gathered huge bouquets of the purple lilac plumes and tied them with silver crepe paper bows. Some were hung on the pillars of the small hall where we had our banquet and others put in vases on the tables.

I will never forget the delightful fragrance that greeted us when we entered the dining hall. I was young, it was spring and I was graduating. It was delightful.

Now it seems the junior class decorates and gives the seniors their banquet. Books are published to aid in decorating the tables and rooms. A large sum of money is spent in buying name cards and programs or floral bouquets. A central theme is used throughout the evening and colors are matched perfectly in all decorations.

Well, as I said, the scent of lilacs is ethereal and delightful. I was as close to heaven that night as I have ever been. It was almost too much happiness for a country girl graduating from high school. It is almost too much nostalgia blowing through my open door this perfect May morning.

The asparagus has been so delicious this spring. It's always a new taste treat to have something fresh from the garden at this time of year.

The rhubarb seems to have taken a sudden turn for the worse the past season. Its stalks are rather spindly which indicate it is in need of fertilizer and tillage. Somehow it has been neglected. The picking each spring has gone on but the care has not been what it should have been.

☆ ☆ ☆

Picturesque portraits I would like to frame for the keeping:

A little boy kicking his way down the trunk of a tree he has just climbed to show a little girl how brave he was.

The little girl jumping for joy that her hero has made the frightening trip safely.

The pair of flirty, flirty wrens back again this spring househunting in our yard.

Reagan Tax Dodge All Nice And Legal

NEW YORK — Since governors are not wont to let the governed peek at the contents of their mail, we have no way of knowing just what the letter-writers had to say to Ronald Reagan after it was disclosed that he had paid no California state tax on his $44,100 salary last year.

An aide acknowledged there was some "adverse" mail. But another quoted the millionarie governor as doubting whether the exposure hurt his political prestige.

Both aides were probably right. There was bound to be an indignant outcry from certain working stiffs who pay through hte nose each week and take home a desiccated paycheck calculated to produce abuse from the old lady.

But there was also bound to be a certain amount of admiration shown for Reagan, too. Taxation is almost everybody's No. 1 enemy these days. Anybody smart enough (or who has tax consultants who are smart enough) to avoid being clobbered by exercising their rights may arouse grudging respect rather than condemnation.

Years ago, the great Dan Parker of the N.Y. Mirror did an investigative job on jockey Don Meade which should have earned him the Pulitzer Prize. Dan's research into Meade's racing ethics, or lack of same, eventually brought about that leading jockey's being barred from the track.

But before that verdict was handed down, Dan got some mail. One particular letter best summed up the mood of the correspondents. It was from a nice old lady, and it enclosed $2. It read, "Dear Mr. Parker: Please have your friend Don Meade fix a race for me and bet this money for me."

Gov. Reagan's business losses last year excused his taxes, which is perfectly legal. Years ago, two of the richest Americans in the country's annals, Andrew Mellon and J. Pierpont Morgan, were questioned by congressional committees on why they, with enormous incomes, had paid no taxes the previous year. They successfully explained that their losses had outgunned their winnings, and each went his way with reputation intact. Indeed, Morgan, caricatured by cartoonists for years as the epitome of the bloated financier, emerged as a jolly old man who sat still for a picture with a midget on his lap.

Dozens of rich oil men, some with their own jets, pay less than a Western Union messenger boy at tax time, because they drilled a proper number of dry holes.

A benefit for Joe Louis was run recently at Caesar's Palace, Las Vegas, and everybody cried over what a good guy poor Joe is. Or was. Joe made a lot of money in the ring, almost as much as was taken away from him by his managers, John Roxborough and Julian Black (who had 50 per cent of him) and by Joe Gould and Jim Braddock, who took an additional 10 per cent for giving him the chance to win Braddock's title in Chicago instead of having to go through with his scheduled non-title fight against Max Schmeling in New York.

Nobody will ever have to run a benefit for Ronald Reagan. Matter of fact, he may have won new friends for himself, the times and the economy being what they are. If the simmering "Dump Agnew" move in the GOP starts precolating, Ronnie's name may lead all the others who claim the great golfer's scepter. Which seems to be the club he uses off the first tee.

Stolen Food Stamp Investigations Bungled; Little Evidence Of Any Follow-Up On Case

WASHINGTON — The Agriculture Department has bungled a two-year investigation of food stamp stealing.

A few little fish were caught, but the sharks got away.

More than $1 million worth of government food stamps, intended for the poor, were stolen and sold to unscrupulous grocers for 30 to 50 cents on the dollar.

Those who bought the stolen stamps redeemed them at full value from the government, thus cheating both the poor and the taxpayers.

Classified reports show that Agriculture agents put in hundreds of hours overtime to stop the stealing. But when more agents were needed to break the theft ring, the nine-to-five bureaucrats in Washington twiddled their thumbs.

At the most crucial point in the investigation, Agriculture Inspector General Nathaniel (Tully) Kossack's office issued a confidential memo saying "careful consideration should precede any decision concerning the continuation of field work."

Translated from government gobbledegook, this meant extra agents needed for the final push would not be assigned and promising lead would not be followed up.

We first reported 16 months ago that tens of thousands of valuable food stamps had been stolen from distribution centers in a dozen states. Here are highlights from the latest classified reports:

One food stamp suspect, jailed on an attempted murder charge in Kentucky, summoned Agriculture agents to his cell. The man, Wayne Likens, whispered that he wanted to get out on bail. "If the federal authorities help him," says the report of the interview, "he in turn will set up (for arrest) eight people involved in food stamp thefts (totaling $600,000)." The document said Likens wanted to get his own stash of money so "he can buy the county courts and then do a five-year sentence instead of life." Officials turned down this intriguing offer.

Succeeding governors of West Virginia allegedly have kept a convicted gambler and safecracker in a top job dealing with food stamps. He is suspected by Agriculture agents of conspiring with the stamp thieves. Yet at last check, he was still helping to run the food stamp program in West Virginia.

A food stamp dealer held secret trysts with stamp thieves at the Huntsville, Ala., and Roanoke, Va., airports, picking up $25,000 and $75,000 respectively, worth of stolen stamps. He then flew on to Los Angeles to sell the stamps on the West Coast. An arrest was made in this case, but the kingpin is still at large.

In Kentucky, the food stamp racket is run by a "big Italian safecracker who drove Cadillacs (and) owned and operated his own airplane," says an investigative report. The man has been tied by other informants to the Mafia. Yet this lead was never explored.

In Cleveland, thieves tried to sell $30,000 worth of stamps "to a local Negro hoodlum. The Negro pulled a gun on (the thieves) and robbed them of the food stamps. These same food stamps were reported to have been sold in Chicago." Again, this promising confidential information went uninvestigated.

A constable confided to Agriculture agents that a Columbus, Ohio, trucker was a leading food stamp hustler. But the agents found that the constable himself was a "notorious hoodlum," suspected of stealing stamps.

In another case, Agriculture officials ordered an agent to bug a barber shop which was used as a center for food stamp trafficking. Then the same official, according to official documents, used other tapes to fire the agent on what appear to be phony charges.

Informants told government sleuths that the stamp theives "have a Charleston (W. Va.) detective with them" and that a high ranking Charleston police official on the case "was not to be trusted."

Yet despite this compost pile of sordid details, the Agriculture Department virtually has shut down the investigation. And the Justice Department, agreeably, has settled for one or two small-fry convictions and a few arrests that probably will never see the courtrooms.

FOOTNOTE: Agriculture Department officials denied to us that they authroized bugging or even possessed bugging equipment. They said they have beefed up auditing procedures and are working with the FBI, state police and local police to solve the theft problem.

Riot Damage — The nation's insurance companies have shelled out a whopping $48 million for riot damage since 1968. This was disclosed at a closed-door symposium of the Army War College the other day by Wallace Smith, the Washington counsel for the National Association of Mutual Insurance Companies, who also urged his listeners to study the Senate Judiciary Committee's hearings on why young people are demonstrating. "It was just dumbfounding to me," said Smith, "how many young people have reached the stage they want to destroy the system."

EVENTS IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

How can the governor of Nebraska be both right and wrong in the spending of state funds and the Legislature in the same category? Whether they are right or wrong, of course, depends upon your own appraisal of things but that is the position they are in, from our point of view.

The Legislature has adopted a little more realistic budget than Governor James Exon recommended, although not by much. Even that small improvement in the budget might dissipate in the face of smaller cash and federal incomes being realized than the Legislature has anticipated.

While the state is not spending enough, Exon is against spending more while the Legislature favors more. Thus, if we favor more spending, we ought to favor the Legislature but such is not the situation.

The Legislature is intent in some areas on spending money in the wrong way while the governor is trying to conserve dollars in some appropriate ways. For instance, the governor, through a veto, has successfully stopped the planned exemption of a large share of personal property taxes on farm and business inventories and equipment.

The governor is right because this, in effect, is a state spending program we cannot afford. It would hike the sale and income tax rates to reimburse local governments for loss of the property tax income.

Thus, the state would be spending money for which there would be no return in terms of improved services. And the tax shift involved is one of little real equity. Some small farmers and businessmen may be suffering from the property tax but by and large, the tax is no more a hardship or an inequity than are the taxes paid by all of us.

In another area, the Legislature has passed a bill increasing state aid to education by $50 million and directing the state to issue $3 million in highway construction bonds.

Once again, the governor has promised to veto both measures. With his vote power, the governor is turning the Legislature into a body requiring a 3-5 majority to do business.

But the governor is correct with his veto in at least one of the above two cases. He is on sound ground in vetoing the $50 million in added state aid to schools.

It can be argued effectively that state aid to schools in the past has reduced local property tax levies. While we think it has done this to some extent, the argument is not one that can be backed up with solid facts. To buy the argument, you have to assume that the schools would have spent, without state aid, all the money they have spent with it.

We don't believe this. We believe that without state aid, the schools would have spent less money and that the same thing is true at this moment. The schools of Nebraska will never appropriate through the property tax an amount equal to the extra $50 million they would get from the Legislature through state aid.

Without state aid's being increased, the schools will tighten their spending belts a little, which is a good idea. With such aid, the schools are effectively relieved of their usual tax accountability to the citizens. Such aid gives the schools a big cash income with nobody in particular to account to for it.

Again, if we had plenty of money to go around, it would not be a bad idea to give the schools more state aid but this is not the case today. The state is hard pressed for money, as are all local governmental units, and the best way to get the most out of every dollar is to retain local tax responsibility.

We just can't afford to surrender this responsibility at a time when demands for spending are as great as they are today. The highway bonds would, in effect, reimburse the state for funds it would divert to counties as a result of a new formula for the distribution of certain user fee income. income.

While the governor should study this proposal carefully before vetoing it, the Legislature would have been better off to make the issue permissive rather than mandatory. Obviously, the governor's free-wheeling use of the veto is making political life complicated but it certainly isn't all bad.

'It Only Hurts When I Laugh!'

Heads In The Sand

Last week the Pershing Municipal Auditorium Advisory Board took a silent poll by paper ballot to determine the board members' interest in allowing the rock musical "Hair" to be presented at the auditorium. The vote came out 3-2 against the musical. Two members of the seven-member board were absent. The issue will possibly be brought up again at a future meeting. We hope so, with the full board taking a stand on whether it intends to censor entertainment for Lincolnites.

The issue is much larger than one musical, which may have become a passe thing, even in these hinterlands. Apparently there is still a feeling among some members of the board that "Hair" isn't the type of entertainment that should be brought to Lincoln. We will forgive them their own personal tastes if only they would give other Lincolnites the opportunity to see what they want to see.

After the March meeting at which the matter was initially discussed, the board put off a decision on "Hair" until Auditorium Manager Ivan Hoig could talk with other managers about the musical's acceptance at other municipal auditoriums.

Hoig reported last week that he did not feel there would be any adverse reaction to the musical, basing his comments on the experience of others with the show. Hoig said that according to conversations with the manager at St. Paul, Minn., "Hair" did not generate any controversy or problems and that during a two-week showing in a theater with a capacity of 2,700, the musical grossed $500,000.

As a sample of the opinion of Lincolnites, Hoig reports that fully 90% of the letters received at Pershing favor the performance of "Hair" at the auditorium.

Ideally, a municipal auditorium should be used as a meeting place for groups representative of the community and for the presentation of entertainment palatable, at one time or another, to all segments of the citizenry. This — all one has to do is go down the long list of acts and events held there — Pershing has done. It is hard to understand, then, why the board would be so improverished in spirit as to deny those who wanted to do so the opportunity to see a classic of its kind.

The production company is still interested in filling an autumn date at Pershing. It is hoped that the board will change its position and allow a controversial musical to stand on its own merits in Lincoln.

Burger Pleads For Civility

There is a tendency on the part of many people, ourselves included, to read things political into the off-the-bench statements by Chief Justice Warren Burger. He is, after all, the cornerstone of a new Supreme Court being built by President Nixon for largely political motives.

And he has exhibited at times a mistrust and intolerance of political and social philosophies different from his own that are so much a part of other creations of the President, Vice President Agnew among them. As in remarks following a speech this week to the American Law Institute in which he said that some lawyers, the news media, legislators and even judges were creating a "20th Century version of Know-Nothingism . . .," an "atmosphere of incivility" that pervaded England and America a century ago.

But Burger said something that needed saying from his quarter when in that speech he scolded "a tiny fragment of reckless, irresponsible lawyers . . . lawyers with more adrenalin than judgment," seemingly bent on destroying the American judicial system, who exclaim that theirs is a political trial.

Burger is not talking about those lawyers who privately or publicly espouse unpopular causes per se, but about those who, in defense of clients claiming that political repression is being used against them, bring the riots and demonstrations in off the streets and turn the courtroom into a circus.

"This seems to mean in today's context, at least to some," the chief justice said, "that rules of evidence, canons of ethics and codes of professional conduct — the necessity for civility — all become irrelevant."

It would seem that common sense and civility have returned to the courtroom, at least as compared to some antics of the past few years. Burger's complaint can serve a useful purpose, nevertheless.

Letters To The Editor

Brevity in letters is requested but length in itself will have no bearing on publication. Writers are advised that needless details and repetitious matter will be edited out of letters. Too frequent contributions from one person on the same subject may be rejected. All letters must be accompanied by writer's true name but may be submitted for publication under a pen name or initials. However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials at the editor's discretion.

Two Wrongs

Blair, Neb.

If by some miracle peace were to be declared in Vietnam, how long would it take to complete the withdrawal of the vast bulk of our troops in that theater? This is the amount of time which should be given to our President, beginning at once, to complete such a withdrawal. No more-

The time table imposed by this national administration, in completing their "Vietnamization" gimmick, has become the biggest political hoax of all time! Isn't it some kind of a coincidence that it has been set up to correspond with a national election in the United States? This, after the generally accepted fact that we have lost the war, and that perhaps we never should have become involved in it. The most recent self-interest to be interjected into the picture is oil. Has this been it all along?

Our church leaders can no longer support this war, if they ever did. Our economic leaders cannot support the war in conscience. No one can really support it from the face-saving angle, or to keep defense jobs.

It makes no difference who started the war. Two wrongs cannot make a right.

Bless The Young

Comstock, Neb.

In your "In Perspective" of May 18, I'm afraid the Russian, Chinese and Cuban goblins are going to get you. Never fear of anything but your own prejudices. Where would these countries be today under their old capitalistic systems of exploitation from within and without? You surely have to admit China has come a long way since kicking us out in 1949. Their mistake is going to be in letting us in again, CIA and all.

Our rape of Cuba has ended but not our embargo. God bless them. The Sputnik and space platform may open our eyes. The Army, Navy and Air Force are bombing and burning small countries into submission, plus our CIA infiltrating most of the world.

Better start dreaming of billions being sunk to exploit the world and our own people, the $5.5 billion deficit in the last three months, or the favoritism to big business, national and state. Better wake up before it's too late.

Get realistic. Get behind our governor, or would you rather have Tiemann again and add another million for the bread-and-butter people to cough up?

May God bless our young people and help us old fogies to see the greed and selfishness which is destroying our country. They couldn't make a bigger mess of things than we have sabotaging their efforts.

Helmet Bill

Lincoln, Neb.

Amendment processes have placed a motorcycle helmet bill, LB1141, in the hopper again. This is the same bill that the governor vetoed, minus the emergency clause. It provides for the mandatory wearing of regulation helmets by operators and passengers of motorcycles on public roads.

This time the citizens should voice their opinions to the governor and legislators. Nine have already died from head injuries this year; none had helmets. Many others lie in the hospital with critical injuries. Lincoln has witnessed a tragic panorama of accidents: three dead, teen-age boys and girls and even a small child lie in hospitals with devastating injuries. Many will be paralyzed and some will spend their lives in a vegetable state because there was nothing between them and the ground.

Claiming that helmet regulation is a violation of their constitutional rights, cyclists have barraged the legislators and recently the governor. Their reasoning is spurious, unsupported judicially. Forty states have helmet laws. Eleven out of 12 challenges to state supreme courts have failed. The U.S. Supreme Court refuses to hear such a case, stating that "a constitutional question is not involved." The Nebraska attorney general gave an affirmative opinion for mandatory helmets to the Legislature.

The public suffers from private folly. Until a cyclist crashes out of the public view, cleans up his own accident and then bears the ensuing expenses, he should be subject to public control. The Nebraska Women for Highway Safety sponsored the helmet bill because we are women who are concerned about the disproportionate death and injury rate of motorcyclists.

Stolen Food Stamp Investigations Bungled; Little Evidence Of Any Follow-Up On Case

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

This is a morning of all mornings with the smell of freshly cut grass coming through the open door. It is a pungent odor of green juices wilting in the warm May sunshine. To add to this, the heady scent of lilacs is filling the air. For more than a week now, their sweet fragrance has been filling the air. Because of the recent cool weather and moisture, it looks as if they will be here for another week or ten days.

There is nothing, absolutely nothing that equals the sweet essence of lilac blossoms blowing in the wind. Any wind will do; a random wind that sneaks across the years, a lilting wind that waltzes slowly through the gate or a brisk wind that darts by with a quick hop, skip and a jump. But the wind that blows the best is a soft, nostalgic wind that fills the mind with other springs and lilac fragrance.

Whenever I catch the scent of lilacs, I think of the year I graduated in the thirties. The class colors were lavender-blue and silver. We gathered huge bouquets of the purple lilac plumes and tied them with silver crepe paper bows. Some were hung on the pillars of the small hall where we had our banquet and others put in vases on the tables.

I will never forget the delightful fragrance that greeted us when we entered the dining hall. I was young, it was spring and I was graduating. It was delightful.

Now it seems the junior class decorates and gives the seniors their banquet. Books are published to aid in decorating the tables and rooms. A large sum of money is spent in buying name cards and programs or floral bouquets. A central theme is used throughout the evening and colors are matched perfectly in all decorations.

Well, as I said, the scent of lilacs is ethereal and delightful. I was as close to heaven that night as I have ever been. It was almost too much happiness for a country girl graduating from high school. It is almost too much nostalgia blowing through my open door this perfect May morning.

The asparagus has been so delicious this spring. It's always a new taste treat to have something fresh from the garden at this time of year.

The rhubarb seems to have taken a sudden turn for the worse the past season. Its stalks are rather spindly which indicate it is in need of fertilizer and tillage. Somehow it has been neglected. The picking each spring has gone on but the care has not been what it should have been.

☆ ☆ ☆

Picturesque portraits I would like to frame for the keeping:

A little boy kicking his way down the trunk of a tree he has just climbed to show a little girl how brave he was.

The little girl jumping for joy that her hero has made the frightening trip safely.

The pair of flirty, flirty wrens back again this spring househunting in our yard.

Watershed Board OKs Lake Leases

The Salt Valley Watershed District directors voted Wednesday to accept proposals for leasing two of its small watershed lakes, located within a two mile radius of Kramer.

One reservoir, Dam 25A, will be leased to the Boy Scouts Cornhusker Council for a yearly fee of $1,000. The reservoir consists of 103 acres, of which 42 surface acres are reservoir pool.

The other watershed lake to be leased is Dam 26A, consisting of 35 acres and a 16-acre pool, to Doane College for $306 a year.

Proposals for a third lake were turned down.

Salt Valley Watershed District General Manager Hal Schroeder said the Boy Scout organization pointed out in its bid that a conservation-oriented program would be undertaken at the lake which would also enhance the value of the property.

Schroeder said that the college proposes to use the other reservoir area for educational purposes, such as class field trips.

Director Jack Wagener said leasing the reservoir to the groups is an excellent way to bring people onto the land to see what good conservation management can do.

The board also approved transferring three acres of property it owns in the Wilderness Park area to the county for park purposes, providing the county agrees to use the area for controlling flood waters.

EOC Seeking Legal Opinion On Methods

The Nebraska Equal Opportunity Commission (EOC) Wednesday decided to seek an attorney general's opinion on the methods used in the EOC's "affirmative action" program.

EOC Executive Directo5 Reid Devoe explained that under the program, the EOC asks to check such things as employers' methods of hiring and recruiting minority races as well as testing procedures used in hiring practices.

"It's an entirely voluntary program for employers," Devoe said. "An employer can decline the service at the start, or at any point."

"What we're trying to do," said Devoe, "is to prevent possible violations by employers in regard to minority employment."

The commission was established six years ago by the Legislature to investigate discrimination complaints and Devoe said the affirmative action program is an attempt to prevent possible violations and the subsequent complaints before they occur.

Devoe said the commission voted unanimously Wednesday to support the program following public questioning of the EOC's program by State Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha.

"The commission doesn't feel the program itself is wrong," Devoe explained, "but there might be some questions about the methods we use in contacting employers."

In seeking the Justice Department opinion, Devoe said, the EOC would send to Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer a copy of its contract with the Federal Equal Opportunity Commission. The state EOC receives a federal grant of money for part of its operation.

"We feel we have a responsibility to aid employers in complying with the law," Devoe said.

Sorry.

We ordered trees, shrubs and flowers from the House of Wesley in Bloomington, Ill. about a month ago in the amount of $24. I have written, but no merchandise.
—William Reckling, Comstock

A phone call to the firm brought an explanation that orders are running up to 50,000 each day, causing extra shifts at night and Saturday, but that they are catching up on back orders.

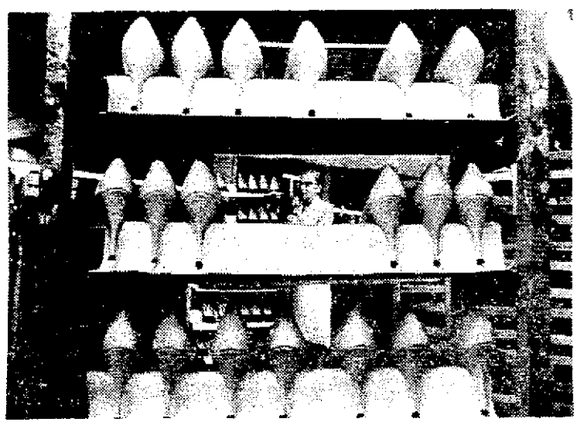
Where can I find spiked three-inch heels? —F.F., Lincoln



ACTION LINE: The biggest collection is most likely in the closet of some lady who wore them a few years ago before they went out of style.

Have faith, however, since heels are going back up to about two and a half inches by the fall, one fashion designer predicts, and more toward the spike heel.

Several Lincoln retail stores surveyed reported they still have some on hand (or should that be on foot?), but the styles may provide slim choice. Another store executive notes he can special order the spike heeled shoes from a catalog at no extra charge.

Best bet would be to make a personal survey some free afternoon of the Lincoln stores that carry ladies' shoes.

How about some information on Johnny Hart who draws the "B.C." cartoon in The Star. —Daryl Anderst, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: "B.C." was rejected by five major syndicates before finally being snapped up by the New York Herald Tribune Syndicate in 1958. It now appears in over 300 newspapers in the U.S., as well as abroad.

Hart, 38, started cartooning for the Pacific "Stars and Stripes" while serving in the Air Force in Korea. After his discharge, he and his wife, Bobby, retired, with $500, to his mother-in-law's farm in Georgia. There he drew day and night, until finally his cartoons started to hit the big time.

Heartened by the response, Hart and his wife returned to his hometown of Endicott, N.Y., but sales became fewer and fewer until he was forced to join the graphics art department of General Electric.

He announced to friends he was going to create a comic strip and someone cynically suggested a prehistoric strip. It worked.

I saw a Nebraska license plate recently that said: "30-Day 4836." What does this one mean? —J.F., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: According to the State Motor Vehicle Dept., this is a 30-day temporary license plate given to non-residents who have purchased an auto in Nebraska. The plate gives them the time to take the car back to their home state.

National Forests Attract Skiers

San Francisco — In 1932, when the U.S. Forest Service first started clearing ski slopes, there were about 50,000 skiers in this country. Today there are about 1.5 million and more than half of them visit the national forests for skiing each winter. Over 200 ski areas, more than 80 per cent of the West's major ones, are entirely or partially on national forest land.

Reader Regrets Move To New Town

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Robert Peterson is on vacation. During his absence his column will be written by author and publisher Henry Schmidt.)

By HENRY SCHMIDT

A reader writes: — I'm a middle-aged woman who has moved to a new town to undertake a new professional job that became available to me. A new town and a new job all at once is a lot to take for anyone, but especially when you are of middle age. I wouldn't recommend others to do it, unless they are much more self-contained than I am.

I always lived in a home, and near people I could count as friends. Here the only thing available is a rather bleak apartment, and I've hardly seen the others who dwell here. My word is: stay close to home ties when you're older, especially if you're single.

Answer: Perhaps you should have started off by renting a room in the YWCA if there is a good one in your new town. But here's another thought to explore. You know that when women become widowed, they often desire to remain in their home and yet can ill afford to do so, with the demise of their earning partner.

Try putting some classified ads in the local newspaper to see if someone like this might have a home to share. You'd be helping her, and she you. And you both might find each other to be companions.

Some years ago I knew of an interesting service started by two ladies to accomplish just such matches and it was interesting to hear of all the happy results of their "match-making."

While on the subject of teaming up with others for almost-independent living, there is the story of how three resourceful New York State women solved their retirement housing problem by building separate dwellings under the same roof. The solution to Mrs. B.'s problem developed from light-hearted banter with two friends, women who had retired from professional activities and were also looking for new living quarters. "You build a modern house with two wings," they suggested, "and we will rent one."

Mrs. B. mentioned the suggestion to an architect friend who thought it was a great idea. She commissioned him to drawn up some tentative plans to submit to her friends. It was an interesting and practical plan and her friends were delighted. Not long after, the construction began.

The house, modern in feeling, has two wings flanking a central patio. In one wing Mrs. B. has a large bedroom, bath, living room. In the other wing her friends have a similar arrangement, but with two small bedrooms instead of one large one. Each apartment has its own outside entrance.

Many special features serve their needs such as a double garage near to the road to escape the need for much snow removal and they feel safer with it because it's near the street, not in the dark rear of the house. It has a downtown location, near to stores, church, transportation, etc. The yard is planned for minimum maintenance.

The advantages, they said, are many. They have privacy but are not alone, congeniality when they seek it, a private house feeling. "It's just great," they say.

State Board Of Education Okays Stanley On 5-3 Vote

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The State Board of Education Wednesday reappointed Cecil E. Stanley as state commissioner of education.

The action on a 5-3 vote by secret ballot came after a three-hour closed door meeting in which the board personally interviewed four candidates.

Board Chairman Frank Landis of Lincoln said Stanley has agreed to accept reappointment to the $21,000-a-year post.

Last January, Stanley, who has been commissioner for the past two years, had indicated he might not accept reappointment unless he had the "100% support of the board."

Stanley, 61, later declined comment on the board's action Wednesday, but Landis reported that Stanley now believes he can continue to work successfully with members of the board (five of whom are new) even if the vote was not unanimous.

Stanley, who has been with the Department of Education since 1941 and was previously with the Lincoln public schools, became state commissioner in 1969 after the board fired Dr. Floyd Hoover on a 5-3 vote.

At the time, Stanley accepted the commissioner's post "to help out" and indicated he ultimately hoped to return to his former position as assistant commissioner for vocational education.

Last January, after the board's makeup was altered by the November election, Stanley was reappointed for six months and the board ordered a nationwide search for someone to fill the position on a continuing basis.

Stanley was encouraged to apply for the commissionship, however, and did so.

Landis said four of the five finalists screened by the board's search committee appeared for personal interviews Wednesday.

Twelve applicants for the post were received, but board members speculated some other possible applicants were discouraged by the salary limitation.

The board had sought legislative authority to offer more than $21,000, but were unsuccessful. The Legislature did abolish the two-year term, however, and the commissioner will now serve "at the pleasure of the board."

Earlier discussion by the board had indicated a division among its members as to whether a new permanent commissioner should be sought or reappointment offered to Stanley.

After the 5-3 vote favoring Stanley, the board discussed but did not vote on an offered motion to make Stanley's selection and appointment unanimous.

Two Passenger Trains Are Back On Schedule

The two early morning Amtrak passenger trains which normally pass through Lincoln are expected to be back on schedule Thursday morning after not running for two days due to the nationwide rail strike.

The strike, which was called by the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen at 6:01 a.m. Monday, ended Tuesday night when President Nixon signed an emergency law ordering the strikers back to work.

Although the strike ended Tuesday night, no Amtrak trains passed through Lincoln Wednesday morning because the strike ended many hours after the trains were supposed to leave their points of origin at Chicago and Denver.

The westbound Amtrak train leaves Lincoln for Denver at 12:25 a.m. and the eastbound train leaves here for Chicago at 2:29 a.m.

C. R. Vergith, Lincoln office manager for the Burlington Northern (BN), said all freight trains scheduled to run in the Lincoln area were back in service Wednesday.

BN and Union Pacific officials also reported that most freight service had been resumed in other parts of the state.

The chief signalman of Lincoln's Local 119 of the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen, Loren Stromer, said his men were off the picket lines at 10:50 p.m. Tuesday.

The Lincoln pickets, which Tuesday numbered 18 men, were at the BN's 7th & N Sts. and Hobson (hump) yards Monday. Tuesday they were at these two locations plus the Havelock Shops and the BN depot.

More than 1,000 union railroad workers — with more than 1,000 of them in Lincoln — were off the job Tuesday because of picket lines throughout the state, but Wednesday officials said all employes were back on the job.

Planning Board In Favor Of High Rise For The Elderly

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

The City-County Planning commission Wednesday recommended approval in concept of a ten-story high rise for the elderly to be built for the Lincoln Housing Authority.

Kenneth King, chairman of the Housing Authority, requested approval of a special permit to build the high rise under the turnkey public housing program in the block bounded by 60th, 61st, Ballard and Morrill.

"We have been chasing this elderly housing for several years but ran into roadblocks before," King said.

He said the Housing Authority was interested in locating the apartment in the Havelock area because that area offers all the amenities within a short distance desirable for an elderly person.

Height Questions

The item concerning some planning commissioners most was the proposed height, one member feeling that 10 stories would be out of character for the Havelock area.

King replied that there would be churches on two sides which would lessen the impact, adding that the building might be less than ten stories.

He explained that private developers must submit designs for building the high rise.

The Housing Authority and Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) then review the proposals and select the party to undertake building.

King said the Omaha HUD office has okayed the site but needs a letter saying that the city will permit development of a high rise at the site.

He said there is an urgency for the city to act since options on the properties will expire next month.

The Planning Commission and City Council will act again on the special permit once a final plan for the building is designed.

The planning body also decided to defer action on a request for a preliminary plat of Rock Ridge Acres, located east of 84th on the north side of Van Dorn St.

Residents Object

Two area residents appeared at the public hearing, objecting to the proposed use of 23 individual package sewer treatment plants and lagoons on the lots for homes.

They contended that there would be odors in the spring from the lagoons, according to information they received from the local health department.

Commission member Robert Allington asked the application be deferred until next week so that an impartial expert could comment on the adequacy of the treatment plant and lagoon operation.

A request for a special permit for a community unit plan on property south of Old Cheney Rd. at 25th also ran into opposition from area residents living in the Knolls area.

Norman Krivosha, an attorney representing Regency Estates Inc., proposed that the application be amended to include only four duplexes to be built on six lots. Plans originally included 4- and 8- plexes.

The duplexes reportedly would be rented for approximately $400 to $500 a month.

Residents, though, objected to reduction in lot sizes immediately next to the spacious lots in Chez Ami Knolls and felt that duplexes would be out of character for the area.

Krivosh said there are no areas available elsewhere where duplexes, costing in excess of $100,000, could be built.

He said a special permit is being sought instead of a change of zone so that there would be no changes in the density or setbacks even though duplexes would be built instead of single family units.

The attorney said builder Lee Chapin has expressed an interest in building the duplexes.

Other commission actions:

—Deferred action because of lacking sufficient votes either for or against a change of zone from A-2 Single Family to B Two Family on property on northeast corner of 46th and High, requested by Elmer Shamber.

—Recommended approval of vacation of north-south alley from Cornhusker Hwy. south to Yolande.

—Deferred action of preliminary and final plat of Sky Ranch Acres, located two miles east of 84th on south side of Holdrege St. extended.

WARDS RIVERSIDE PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE

If the tire fails due to such defects, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire FREE during the first 20% of original tread life, and for a prorated charge based on tread wear received during the remainder of the tread life. If the tire fails due to road hazards (excluding repairable punctures) during the original tread life, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire for a prorated charge based on tread wear received.

Prorated charge is based on the regular exchange price in effect at the retail store to which returned or the current catalog price in effect at the store or agency to which returned, in either case including F.E.T. Original tread life is to the top of the tread wear indicator.

For service under this guarantee return tire with evidence of date of purchase to any Montgomery Ward branch.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY
Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current regular price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wearout Allowance

WARDS RIVERSIDE PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE
Montgomery Ward guarantees Riverside passenger car tires (to the original purchaser) against (1) defects in material and workmanship and (2) road hazards as follows:
If the tire fails due to such defects, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire FREE during the first 20% of original tread life, and for a prorated charge based on tread wear received during the remainder of the tread life. If the tire fails due to road hazards (excluding repairable punctures) during the original tread life, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire for a prorated charge based on tread wear received.
Prorated charge is based on the regular exchange price in effect at the retail store to which returned or the current catalog price in effect at the store or agency to which returned, in either case including F.E.T. Original tread life is to the top of the tread wear indicator.
For service under this guarantee return tire with evidence of date of purchase to any Montgomery Ward branch.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY
Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current regular price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wearout Allowance
40,000 miles	Prorated on Miles Driven

36 month	6.00
33 month	5.00

24 month	3.00
18 month	2.00

Gov. Exon Denies Politics Involved In Newsstand Operation Change

"If trying to help the visually-impaired is politics," Gov. J. James Exon said Wednesday regarding future operation of the Statehouse newsstand, "then we'll be doing more of it."

Exon said he concurs with the Department of Administrative Service decision to make the operation of the newsstand available to a qualified visually-impaired person selected through the state's Division for Rehabilitation of the Visually-Impaired.

"There's no political motive," Exon said, "It's just an opportunity for the state to help the visually-impaired as does the federal government in its buildings."

Issues Charge

Vern Griffin, whose wife, Colleen, currently operates the newsstand, has publicly charged politics is behind the Exon administration decision not to renew the Griffin's two-year lease for space which expires June 30.

In a May 6 letter of notification to the Griffins, Del Maier, general services director, advised that state would follow a federal mandate which "gives precedence to the visually impaired to handle this type of operation."

Griffin, who is a registered Republican, claimed his political affiliation was checked by the Democratic administration in connection with its decision.

'Not Successfully'

He said he feels that the newsstand cannot be successfully operated by the visually impaired and charged the Exon administration would then turn it over to a political friend.

This was stoutly denied by Department of Administrative Services sources, which pointed out that the state rehabilitation division has an on-going program for the training, financing and supervision of visually-impaired persons in helping them to become self-supporting in small businesses or jobs.

Dean S. McDermott, rehabilitation division director, said he had requested the visually impaired be permitted to bid on the rental of the newsstand facility.

He said a qualified visually handicapped individual is available to run the business.

Interested In Others

McDermott indicated the Rehabilitation Division would also be interested in other leased space — such as the cafeteria and coin-operated vending machines — as business ventures for the visually impaired.

The Griffins pay $29.60 per month for the newsstand space under a lease executed two years ago under the administration of former Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann.

Griffin said the Tiemann administration was the first to require a written lease. He said the newsstand business was purchased at that time from Mrs. Griffin's aunt, Edith Eicher, now of Sun City, Ariz.

Griffin said he was shocked to learn the lease wouldn't be renewed because "I felt the Exon administration knew the record of the family and had a moral obligation to honor (renew) the lease."

When the Tiemann administration required a lease "for the first time in the history of the stand," Griffin said he was "assured by Gov. Tiemann, himself, that it was in no way political."

At that time, Griffin said, he told Tiemann of his fears that the written lease move was an attempt by persons within the Tiemann administration to obtain control of the newsstand operation.

'Bidding Wanted'

"I wouldn't care if it (the newsstand) were now thrown open to competitive bidding," Griffin said, but he lamented the state's power to throw his business, which employes three persons, out at this time.

He charged he was never even consulted on what "our investment loss might be."

Griffin said the Attorney General's office should be asked to rule whether "competitive bidding" should now be required.

However, Statehouse legal sources, who expressed amazement at the low rent being paid for the newstand space, said they knew of no law requiring competitive bids.

The sources said the general prerogatives over the use of statehouse space rests with the governor, who may be advised by the Capitol Building Commission.

Van Pelt Won't Halt Education Board Hearing

U.S. District Court Judge Robert Van Pelt Wednesday denied a request from a Lincoln schoolteacher who had sought to cancel a Board of Education hearing on the termination of his contract.

The teacher, Robert L. Johnson, had sought a temporary restraining order against the hearing, contending his constitutional rights to procedural due process would be nullified if the hearing was held.

Johnson was notified earlier this spring that Supt. John Prasch was recommending his contract be terminated for reasons of incompetency and failure to give evidence of professional growth.

The junior high mathematics instructor then asked for a hearing in the matter, but later filed suit in federal court seeking to force his retention.

Restraining Order Asked

He also asked for the temporary restraining order, saying an impartial hearing with the board was impossible because he had not been given a list of "specific charges," had been denied full access to school district files and could not receive a fair hearing before a board which acted as employer, prosecutor and judge.

But Van Pelt ruled the court should not "terminate the proceedings . . . by assuming that due process will not be afforded."

"This court, on the record before it, is unwilling to assume, or to regard as true, the claim of the plaintiff in the oral argument that he will not receive a fair and impartial hearing before the board, Van Pelt wrote.

"It is entirely possible after the hearing is held as scheduled that plaintiff will not be discharged," the judge continued.

'No Rubber Stamp'

"Historically, at least, the Lincoln School Board has not been the rubber stamp of its superintendent."

Determination of the due process issue before the hearing is held would be premature, Van Pelt said.

Van Pelt suggested, however, that any board member who "feels that he or she cannot afford plaintiff a fair and impartial hearing" withdraw from the proceedings, set for 3 p.m. Thursday.

Van Pelt noted a "contract termination procedure" adopted by the board sets May 20 as the final day for a board decision on contracts in doubt.

"If restrained, then this duty of the board could not be fulfilled," he said.

He said any trial on the suit could be held in June or July so that the issue could be settled before the beginning of the next school year.

Employment Bill Action Postponed

Washington (AP) — The House Democratic leadership, outmaneuvered by strategists for the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition, postponed action on a service employment bill.

The bill was set aside after the coalition succeeded in making it possible to substitute President Nixon's manpower revenue sharing bill for it.

Rather than risk a vote at this time, the leadership withdrew the public service job bill in hopes it can build support for it during the next week or so.

Drug Commission Studies Recommendations For Planning, Funding

The Governor's Commission On Drug Abuse Wednesday sifted through reports of its various committees, accepting recommendations for future program planning and funding.

Much of the gubernatorial commission's action was geared toward July 1 when it becomes the State Commission on Drug Abuse by act of the 1971 Legislature.

Dr. Gale Oleson, commission chairman, indicated that the various committee reports, accepted by the full commission, may ultimately be incorporated into a state plan to combat drug abuse through law enforcement and education and medical resources.

$60 Million Available

An estimated $60 million for fiscal 1971-72 is expected to become available to the states from the Federal government for drug abuse education and enforcement.

Oleson estimated Nebraska's share could be $1 million or more.

Among project proposals accepted by the commission for possible funding were the printing of a comprehensive guide on health education for use in elementary and secondary schools, estimated at $15,000, and statewide workshops for school teachers and counselors on drug abuse, estimated at $20,000.

The commission's law enforcement committee reported the need to increase the state's law enforcement capability so as "to get at the drug pushers."

D. H. Wilcox, committee chairman, said most arrests have involved drug users because law enforcement doesn't have the manpower "to get at the real sources of the drug traffic in the state."

Manpower Proposal Set

The committee, he said, hopes to have a "manpower" proposal for getting at the drug problem ready to submit within the next two months.

The research committee reported a sample survey indicated 4,225 persons sought help for drug problems during the first eight months of 1970, but only 1,000 received "services of some kind."

Arrests for drug abuse totalled 911 during 1970, representing a 79% increase from the previous year, according to the committee.

The committee reported the Nebraska Psyciatric Institute is treating 10 to 20 patients with drug problems per month, and plans to institute a permanent "acute drug care center" with 10 beds beginning July 1.

About half of 47 hospitals, responding to the committee's survey, indicated they had facilities for treatment of "drug misuse" patients on an emergency or in-patient basis.

Drug Commission Studies Recommendations For Planning, Funding

The Governor's Commission On Drug Abuse Wednesday sifted through reports of its various committees, accepting recommendations for future program planning and funding.

Much of the gubernatorial commission's action was geared toward July 1 when it becomes the State Commission on Drug Abuse by act of the 1971 Legislature.

Dr. Gale Oleson, commission chairman, indicated that the various committee reports, accepted by the full commission, may ultimately be incorporated into a state plan to combat drug abuse through law enforcement and education and medical resources.

$60 Million Available

An estimated $60 million for fiscal 1971-72 is expected to become available to the states from the Federal government for drug abuse education and enforcement.

Oleson estimated Nebraska's share could be $1 million or more.

Among project proposals accepted by the commission for possible funding were the printing of a comprehensive guide on health education for use in elementary and secondary schools, estimated at $15,000, and statewide workshops for school teachers and counselors on drug abuse, estimated at $20,000.

The commission's law enforcement committee reported the need to increase the state's law enforcement capability so as "to get at the drug pushers."

D. H. Wilcox, committee chairman, said most arrests have involved drug users because law enforcement doesn't have the manpower "to get at the real sources of the drug traffic in the state."

Manpower Proposal Set

The committee, he said, hopes to have a "manpower" proposal for getting at the drug problem ready to submit within the next two months.

The research committee reported a sample survey indicated 4,225 persons sought help for drug problems during the first eight months of 1970, but only 1,000 received "services of some kind."

Arrests for drug abuse totalled 911 during 1970, representing a 79% increase from the previous year, according to the committee.

The committee reported the Nebraska Psyciatric Institute is treating 10 to 20 patients with drug problems per month, and plans to institute a permanent "acute drug care center" with 10 beds beginning July 1.

About half of 47 hospitals, responding to the committee's survey, indicated they had facilities for treatment of "drug misuse" patients on an emergency or in-patient basis.

Students To Present Plans For Riverfront Development

Fifth-year architecture students at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln will publicly present Wednesday their designs for a portion of the Omaha Riverfront Development Project.

The presentation by students in the NU School of Environmental Development will be done with slides and is scheduled for 2 p.m. in Sheldon Gallery Auditorium.

The architectural design students of Professor Dale L. Gibbs have developed plans for two portions of the massive urban design and renewal project initiated by an Omaha civic committee in cooperation with a group of Omaha architects and engineers.

Fried Milk Curd New Protein Food

Washington — A new high-protein food made by frying milk curd in deep fat has been developed by federal researchers. It has a meatlike texture, is bland, can be flavored for individual tastes, and if sterilized can be kept at room temperature for three months.

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

We all nick, cut or scrape ourselves at one time or another without too many complications. But when is a wound serious enough to require a physician's care?

In general, an injury requires real medical attention if there is spurting bleeding, or slow bleeding that continues for more than ten minutes. You should also see a physician if there is foreign material in the wound that does not wash out easily, or if the wound is of a type that cannot be completely cleansed.

Deep puncture wounds are serious, as is a long or wide cut that might require stitches, or may have severed a nerve or tendon in the hand. Medical care is extremely important if a wound is from a bite, or a cut or scrape that has been in contact with soil.

Committee OKs Shorter Period Of Daylight Time

Washington (AP) — The Senate Commerce Committee approved an amendment to the Uniform Time Act by which daylight savings time would extend from Memorial Day to Sept. 30.

Daylight savings time now extends from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October.

Burns: Raising Interest Won't Help U.S. Dollar

The New York Times

By EDWIN L. DALE JR.

Washington — Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board supported Wednesday the Nixon administration view that raising interest rates was not the right way "to improve the international position of the dollar."

In closed-door testimony to the Senate Banking Committee, Burns expressed a relatively optimistic view of the future trend of the nation's balance of international payments and implied that the recent monetary crisis was unnecessary.

The text of his prepared statement, but not questions and answers, was made available by the committee.

Burns said "the bulk of the short-term capital outflow" from the United States — which was the chief event leading up to the crisis — "is now behind us." While there remains the "underlying" deficit in the balance of payments, he said, "by itself this imbalance is nowhere near large enough to have created a crisis."

Price Stability

From the point of view of the United States, Burns said, "the overriding need is to restore price stability even as the present slack in the economy is taken up." He reasserted his "growing conviction" that the government should adopt "a cogent incomes policy" — a broad term describing various methods of trying to influence private price and wage behavior.

Apart from that point Burns had the following suggestions:

—Retain the present limited controls on outflow of U.S. capital. He said he could "think of nothing that would arouse greater resentment abroad and weaken the dollar more than an attitude of neglect that included dismantling or even relaxing our existing programs to restrain the outflow of U.S. capital."

—Persuade other nations to relax restraint on imports and investments abroad "besides undertaking a significantly larger contribution to the defense of the free world."

—Try to work with other nations "to try to bring about smaller divergences of monetary policies." He said this apparently required "a more active use of fiscal policy by each major country" to guide the domestic economy, which could "materially reduce divergences in monetary policies and thereby limit short-term movements of funds and payments imbalances."

—Offset the short-term capital flows "that cannot be avoided" by various technical devices, such as issues of securities by the U.S. government in the Eurodollar market and "the provision of improved investment outlets in the United States for foreign central bank reserves."

Burns did not dwell at length on the interest rate question as a solution of the balance of payments problem.

"I see no real conflict btween our domestic and our balance-of-payments objectives. The frequently suggested prescription of raising interest rates would not meet our lasting needs at home or abroad," he said.

Autopsies Show Eagles Died Of Predator Poison

Washington (UPI) — Autopsies showed Wednesday that 21 bald and golden eagles found recently near Casper, Wyo., apparently were killed by concentrations of a poison officials stopped using four years ago against coyotes and other predators.

U.S., Russians Talk Over Harassment Of Lobstermen

Aboard the Cutter Duane (AP)— A five-hour U.S.-Soviet meeting at sea Wednesday over alleged harassment of New England lobstermen was described as "very frank, very free and reasonably successful" by the head of the American delegation.

"My impression was that their major concern was to get us off their back," said Donald L. McKernan of the State Department, who was in charge of the 11-member U.S. delegation.

The meeting took place aboard the gray and rusting Eykhe, the 537-foot mother ship of the 120-vessel Soviet Atlantic fleet. The ship, a floating processing plant, is some 80 miles southeast of Boston near the Nantucket Lightship.

"We stated the position of the United States clearly and plainly to the Soviets," McKernan said. "We told them that there is adequate precedence in the laws of the sea that show they should give consideration to the fixed gear of U.S. lobster fishermen.

"The Soviets acknowledged, generally, that it was their job to look out for our gear . . . they indicated that their government did not want any difficulty over this."

McKernan said the commander of the Soviet fleet, Yuri I Radtsev, agreed to reinstruct his fleet to be careful of fixed lobster gear.

"He also agreed," McKernan said, "that U.S. fishermen could contact a Soviet inspection vessel in the area which would react immediately if there were trouble, or potential trouble."

McKernan told a news conference in Boston Wednesday night of a similar harassing incident Tuesday involving two Polish fishing vessels.

He said the State Department would try to take up the matter with the Polish Embassy in Washington Thursday. The lobster trawler Susan Y reported Tuesday two Polish vessels damaged her lobster gear.

"We want to see the activity of the Russian fleet in the next three weeks before I can say the problem is solved," McKernan said.

Allies Clash With Red-Led Troops In 4 Battles

Saigon (AP) — Allied forces clashed Wednesday with Communist-led troops in heavy fighting at four points ranging from the U Minh forest marshlands in the southern Mekong Delta to the mountain ridges surrounding the A Shau Valley in the far north.

Allied battlefield communiques said 79 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops were killed in seven clashes.

On the allied side, field reports said 22 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 47 South Vietnamese and six Americans were wounded.

South Vietnamese infantrymen and marines fought four battles with North Vietnamese troops on the eastern and northern edges of the A Shau Valley, 375 miles north of Saigon.

Twenty-eight North Vietnamese troops were reported killed in the four fights. Saigon losses were given as five men killed and 31 wounded.

Fifty-one North Vietnamese troops were reported killed with the help of artillery and air strikes at the opposite end of the country in two battles in the U Minh Forest and to the east of it, roughly 125 miles southwest of Saigon. Field reports said 17 South Vietnamese troops were killed and 16 were wounded.

A U.S. armored column clashed Wednesday with up to 100 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops defending a bunker couplex on Highway 1, 25 miles northwest of Saigon, calling in air and artillery support.

Heavy duty bulldozers have been used in efforts to destroy the bunkers and holes since April 1.

The U.S. Command said six Americans were wounded, one armored personnel carrier was destroyed and two bulldozers were damaged. Enemy losses were not known.

The command said a U.S. UH1 Huey helicopter was shot down Sunday on the eastern side of the A Shau Valley in the northern sector of South Vietnam.

The four helicopter crewmen are listed as missing. It raised to 7,771 the total number of U.S. aircraft of all types reported lost to all causes in the Indochina war since Jan. 1, 1961.

ARE WEEDS A GROWING CONCERN WITH YOU?

Nowadays you can clear out lawn weeds easily and surely. All you do is fill a spreader with either of the fine Scotts products listed below and take a stroll over the lawn.

To weed as you feed . . .

Simply spread Scotts PLUS-2. It goes right to work on dandelions, plantain, clover and most other common lawn weeds. PLUS-2 makes them gradually curl up and disappear — roots and all. At the same time PLUS-2 full-fertilizes your good grass — makes it grow greener and sturdier, filling in those places where the weeds used to be.

5,000 sq. ft. bag (20 lbs.) 7.95
10,000 sq. ft. bag (40 lbs.) 14.95

To weed without feeding

All it takes is an easy spreader application of KANSEL. It provides the same positive weed control as Scotts PLUS-2 — without the fertilizing. So if dandelions, clover and similar weeds are a growing concern, but your lawn doesn't need fertilizing, spread KANSEL now. It will take care of the weeds before they can crowd out any more good grass.

5,000 sq. ft. bag (5 lbs.) 4.95

ARE WEEDS A GROWING CONCERN WITH YOU?

Nowadays you can clear out lawn weeds easily and surely. All you do is fill a spreader with either of the fine Scotts products listed below and take a stroll over the lawn.

To weed as you feed . . .

Simply spread Scotts PLUS-2. It goes right to work on dandelions, plantain, clover and most other common lawn weeds. PLUS-2 makes them gradually curl up and disappear — roots and all. At the same time PLUS-2 full-fertilizes your good grass — makes it grow greener and sturdier, filling in those places where the weeds used to be.

10,000 sq. ft. bag (40 lbs.) 14.95

To weed without feeding

All it takes is an easy spreader application of KANSEL. It provides the same positive weed control as Scotts PLUS-2 — without the fertilizing. So if dandelions, clover and similar weeds are a growing concern, but your lawn doesn't need fertilizing, spread KANSEL now. It will take care of the weeds before they can crowd out any more good grass.

Bill Permitting State To Underwrite Student Loans Is Passed

By United Press International

The Nebraska Legislature overwhelmingly decided Wednesday the state should invest its money in its youth by underwriting student loans.

The decision came in the form of passing a bill, LB152, sponsored by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff. It was sent to the governor on a 40-0 vote.

It would, in short, allow the state to loan money to Nebraska students attending the state's institutions of higher learning.

Carpenter has said it would put the reality of education within reach of all youth "beyond our fondest dreams."

"It would allow students from both sides of the tracks to go to school," he said.

And it is estimated that one day as much as $300 million in state dollars would be so invested.

Under the terms of the bill, which is a "pilot" for other states, the State Investment Council would provide the money. The council was specifically created to make both short and long term investments to give the state funds from sources other than taxation.

The council would be authorized to purchase from lending institutions in the state federally guaranteed education loans for Nebraska students.

Carpenter said getting the federal guarantee is not hard. The major requirement is a high school diploma. And even without one, he said, it is possible to get a loan to complete high school.

However, he and others contend, the hard part is getting the money once the federal government has decided to guarantee the loan because the funds must come from private lending institutions. They, in turn, are limited on how much money may be loaned by banking laws.

The Carpenter bill would allow the state, in $5,000 blocks, to purchase notes, underwriting the education loans, so the lenders could turn around and extend more loans — hopefully to students.

Against: (0).

Not Voting (5): Barnett, Carsten, Chambers, Kime, Klaver, Kramer, Schmit, Simpson, Wiltse.

Snowmobile, Minibike Regulations Are Approved

By The Associated Press

A pair of bills to regulate the use of minibikes and snowmobiles motored through the Legislature Wednesday on final reading.

The snowmobile bill, LB330, passed on a 35-1 vote and the minibike bill, LB644, received a 39-0 vote. Both measures now go to the desk of Gov. J. J. Exon.

Snowmobiles, previously licensed by the State Motor Vehicles Department as motorcycles, will be licensed as snowmobiles. Under terms of the bill, they may not be operated on highways but can use the right of way next to the highway.

The hunting of birds or animals from snowmobiles is also prohibited.

The minibike bill prohibits their use on streets and highways used by "normal" traffic although the bikes may cross highways.

Minibikes would also be exempt from provisions of the state motor vehicle regulations under the bill sponsored by Sens. E. Thome Johnson of Fremont and Wally Barnett of Lincoln.

Minibikes are defined in the law as being less than five horsepower or less than 30 inches high.

Measure Limiting Sanitary District Projects Passed

The Legislature passed and sent to the governor Wednesday a bill which would prohibit sanitary improvement districts from undertaking certain kinds of projects and require municipal review for others.

On a 45-0 vote, the lawmakers sent the bill, LB188, to the governor. It is sponsored by Sen. Richard F. Proud of Omaha.

Under the terms of the bill, the districts would be prohibited from constructing clubhouses and similar facilities for "the giving of private parties."

The proposal exempts any district not within the zoning limits of any municipality.

Workmen's Compensation Benefits Hike Approved

By United Press International

On a 34-6 vote, the Legislature sent the governor a bill Wednesday which would increase Workmen's Compensation benefits.

Sponsored by Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice, the measure would increase the current $35 a week minimum to $40 and the present $55 a week maximum to $62.

However, in passing the bill, the Legislature indicated it would probably consider another raise next year.

The original Carstens bill requested to 40% hike, but the Unicameral's Labor Committee dropped it to 20% saying it would consider another hike next year.

In reaching its decision, the committee noted the 1969 session approved a 22% increase to cover a two-year period. And they felt in view of annual sessions if another hike is needed it would only be a matter of months, rather than a couple of years, to make the adjustment.

Gov. Exon Promises More Vetoes

By the Associated Press

The box score on legislative bill vetoes by Gov. J. J. Exon stood Wednesday night at five made, three promised — and more possible.

Only one has so far been overridden — the veto of the cigarette tax increase bill to provide construction funds for a University of Nebraska fieldhouse and a new state office building.

Exon has promised to veto — if passed — a pending LB256, providing partial property tax exemption for farms, business and industry.

He has promised also to veto two already-passed bills — LB264, increasing by nearly $50 million a year state aid to schools, and LB1008, requiring the issuance of highway revenue bonds.

Exon told newsmen late Wednesday he is considering the possibility of vetoing LB1031, which would give the Legislature control over plans for the proposed new state office building aad University of Nebraska fieldhouse.

He said he also is inquiring into the fiscal impact of LB179 and LB179A, a $1.6 million package increasing state aid for the education of handicapped and emotionally disturbed children.

Similarly under scrutiny as possible veto objects, he reported, are LB977 and LB977A, requiring some $102,000 for care and education of multihandicapped children.

Exon indicated he is concerned that these money bills may force an increase in sales or income tax rates, contrary to his campaign pledge last year.

Dana Seeks Okay For FM Station

Washington (AP) —The Federal Communications Commission announced it has received an application from Dana College in Blair, Neb., to operate an educational FM station on 91.1 megacycles.

Legislature Puts Off Education Unit Decision

The Legislature decided in effect Wednesday to put off until next year a decision on a bill creating an advisory commission on higher education in the state.

The measure, LB866, sponsored by Sen. Wayne Ziebarth of Wilcox, was returned to select file for corrective amendments and then was unable to generate enough support for readvancement. The vote was 11 in favor, 17 against.

Because Wednesday was the last practical day on which bills could move from select file and have enough constitutionally required time for final reading by the 90th day, the bill will rest in position until lawmakers convene next January.

In another late action, lawmakers killed a bill, Omaha Sen. William R. Skarda's LB612, calling for the nomination of Douglas County commissioners by districts. Sen. Duke Snyder of Omaha moved to return LB612 to select file to strike the enacting clause — a device to kill a bill—and it carried 33-6. Skarda did not resist.

Lawmakers also adopted a rules change under which no senator could sponsor or co-sponsor more than 10 bills at a legislative session.

Nebraska's State Senators Support Israel

The Nebraska Legislature Wednesday went on record in support of continued economic and military aid to Israel.

Approved 31-1 was Resolution 77 chiefly sponsored by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, which urges the U.S. government to maintain friendship with Israel and take steps to facilitate a just and lasting peace.

The only dissenting vote was cast by Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha who, in a brief floor debate, said "it makes no sense when we have pressing problems in Nebraska" to be "meddling in an area in which we have no business."

A Proud amendment to the resolution, approved 13-8, instructed the clerk to send copies of the resolution to the President of the United States and the Nebraska delegations and that the resolutions show names of senators voting for, against, and absent and not voting on the matter.

RR Transportation District Measure Okayed By Unicam

The Legislature Wednesday authorized Lincoln and Lancaster County to establish a unique new governmental agency to remove and relocate railroad tracks which now impede traffic flow or create safety hazards.

LB919, enacted on a 36-3 vote, was sponsored by Sen. Wally Barnett and his four Lincoln Colleagues.

Under provisions of the bill, a Railroad Transportation Safety District could be created in the county to purchase right-of-way and relocate tracks which now cause traffic problems in downtown Lincoln.

The district would be governed by three city council members and three county commissioners.

It would have taxing authority up to three-fourths of a mill and power to issue bonds.

Highway Funding Aid OKd

The Legislature Wednesday gave final 43-1 approval to a bill which will provide counties with additional highway funding assistance.

Only Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln voted against enactment of LB844, sponsored by Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly.

The bill assures counties that they will receive not less than their 1969 highway dollar allocations in the future despite their decreased share of total highway funds which becomes effective in 1972.

LB844 also reduces county matching fund requirements in line with a previous matching fund reduction for second class cities and villages.

Under the new proposal, counties need match only 50% of the second half of their allocation. The first half is allocated without matching requirements.

Counties now receive 25-1-3% of the total highway allocation pot, but that share will drop to 24-1-3% in 1972 as the share for cities increases from 21-1-3% to 22-1-3%.

Without LB844, counties would lose an estimated $1.7 million in road funds when the formula changes next year.

Since the "make up" fund will take dollars which might otherwise have gone for state highway construction as well as city and county funding, lawmakers earlier enacted a bill to increase the highway allocation fund by $3 million.

That measure, LB1008, directs the Exon administration to issue $3 million in highway bonds by Nov. 30.

Gov. J. James Exon has announced he will veto the bond bill.

The $3 million is designed to provide sufficient funds to supply counties with "makeup" money under LB844 over the period of time required for highway user revenue to increase sufficiently to fund any further dollar losses.

Leonard Vidger Is Recipient Of First Fellowship

Dr. Leonard P. Vidger, professor of finance, has been selected the first recipient of a College of Business Administration faculty summer research fellowship at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The fellowship is part of a College of Business Administration research and faculty improvement program financed from private donations. He was selected by the College's Research Policy Committee.

Dr. Vidger will spend June and July undertaking research pertaining to the development and implementation of a formula or model for periodic adjustment of mortgage interest rates on home construction and marketing loans consonant with economic and price level fluctuations. He will also evaluate the feasibility of application of this practice.

The committee also approved a research grant for Dr. George Holdren and Dr. John Harris, both of the department of accounting, to finance study of Certified Public Accountants and CPA firms in Nebraska.

Urbanec had originally requested a preliminary hearing in the lower court.

Of the nine originally charged, three have pleaded guilty in Lancaster District Court, charges have been dismissed against three and another has waived preliminary hearing and one hearing is still set for May 26.

BOOKS—"Summer of '42" will linger on

BY INDIRA SINGH

A delightful and powerful American novel, "Summer of '42" will undoubtedly stay on the best seller list for a long time. Unfortunately author Herman Raucher released the movie of the same name at the same time as the novel, and now the reader is catapulted into making judgments on which will outlast the other Strains of such a procedure are so familiar with the box office hit and the best seller "Love Story," that one cannot help but wonder whether the future of the novel and the screen is to be thoroughly mingled

However, the novel "Summer of '42" goes beyond any screenplay and fiercely establishes itself in its own right It shows with humor and softness three boys astride the fence that separates boyhood from manhood, and the summer when they share their last moments of painful innocence There is Oscy, who with a hefty left and a freckled smile, establishes himself as the leader of the "Terrible Trio". Hermie comes next in the line of command. Shy, poetic and a loner he is the main character in the book Then there is Benjie, the youngest and scrawniest, whose most prized possession is an Ingersol watch

Left to roam the sand dunes near their summer vacation homes, they imagine themselves as "Beau, John and Digby Geste, Devils of the Desert, steel in their hearts and sand in their Jockey shorts" All is well until Hermie, aged fifteen, falls in love. "And nothing, from the first moment Hermie saw her, and no one who had happened to him since, had ever been as frightening and as confusing or could have done more to make him feel more sure, more insecure, more important and less insignificant" She was Hermie's Helen of Troy, the Lady of the Lake, Anna Karenina, and Juliet all combined into one. She was beautiful beyond all his dreams — and married.

It is a bit difficult to convey the beauty, humor and poignancy of this novel. Written through the mind's eye of a 42-year-old man looking back at his fifteenth year of childhood, the story possesses prophetic and beautiful emptiness It pours out the loneliness that one encounters in the tragedies of life, and the lightheartedness that one feels in the innocence of childhood

There are special summers for everyone, some of which are remembered with more tenderness than others. Hermie's summer is one that captures the reader's mind and remains ever so special . . . "For it was the summer of '42 when they saw five movies and had nine days of rain. Benjie broke his watch, Oscy gave up his harmonica and found tenderness, and in a very special way, Hermie was lost forever."

The national best seller list for this week includes the following books:

Also speaking will be O. R. Hayes, M.D., of Lincoln on the subject of the Australia Antigen; Donald Bernier, Veterans Administration Manby and Patricia Rogers, Hospital, Omaha; Charolotte Clarkson Hospital.

The meeting will come to an end with a banquet on Saturday evening at the Ramada Inn. Ernie Siegler of the University of Nebraska coaching staff will be the guest speaker, and during the evening awards, and the newly elected officers will be presented.

A Queen To Be Chosen

For eight young ladies all between the ages of 16 and 21 years of age, Saturday evening will be one of the most exciting times in their lives — up to now, that is.

On Saturday evening Miss Francisca Cordero, Miss Cathy Awuilar, Miss Anna Herrera, Miss Doris Hernandez, Miss Marta Hernandez (they are unrelated), Miss Flora Lopez, Miss Marty Rivera and Miss Mary Benavidez, will vie for the honor of 'Queen'

The competition of the Lincoln Queen is sponsored by the American GI Forum which is composed of Mexican-American Veterans

The parade of contestants will follow the organizations banquet on Saturday evening, and the three judges will be Miss Esther Montgomery of Channel 12, William Rounds, better known in hairstyling circles as Mr. William, and Fred Wilson

In addition to looking her most beautiful, each contestant must give a three-minute speech on a topic of her own choosing

The winner will compete in the state contest to be held June 11 and 12, and the state winner then will go to the Stardust Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev., for the national American GI Forum convention and contest

Fashion Picture For Autumn Has Rare Beauty

BY BERNADINE MORRIS
(c) New York Times Service

He's a designer whose time has come. Nothing he touches turns to dross, not even gold brocade for evening. He just shapes it into culottes, adds a fisher fur hemband and a jersey bodice, but that's running ahead of our story.

What makes the Blass collection so exceptional is that he has a point of view and he pursues it, without trying to be all things to all people. It focuses on tailored clothes, a genre he handles particularly well and one that a lot of other designers are groping with.

He's turned out the best collection on Seventh Avenue, and Seventh Avenue ought to be grateful. He's helped it save face as everybody looks to European ready-to-wear for inspiration.

Now, Blass is as American as — let's not fight it, apple pie — and so are his clothes. They're neat, clean-cut and expensive-looking. They're full of such old-fashioned goodies as beige gabardine, gray flannel and school girl plaids. It's nice to have them all back again.

Many years ago, there was such a thing as a three-piece suit when the third piece was a coat, not a blouse. It died a dowdy death, and not many designers would have the chutzpah to try bringing it back to life.

Blass does. The suit is in a checked wool, the coat is camel hair, with the same check on the reverse side, and the revival is so successful one wonders how we did without it for so long.

Everything is done with such style and conviction that you forget to object to those hats with the veils or the furs that are wrapped around one arm with the little legs hanging down.

He extends the tailored theme into evening with such nifty styles as a long plaid dress topped with a bright red blazer or a python-printed velvet suit with the same snake print on a chiffon blouse under it. There are evening culottes in glittery fabrics that will shine at the nicest parties and flower-printed velvet coat-dresses that open on knickers or shorts.

The trouble with the separates look that most designers are attempting for fall as part of their infatuation with sportswear is that it has to be done well. If it isn't, it can make women look like slobs.

When an outfit is composed of three or four different parts, none matching, each part had better hang properly. Hemlines shouldn't droop. An unattractive print is not magically improved when it's combined with two other unappealing ones.

She's been doing it for about three years now as the head of her own company, or a couple of years before many other designers got into the act. Though the rumpled-tweed look has its charms, that's not the kind of thing she's aiming at.

She's convinced that jackets with skirts or pants are a contemporary way of dressing, but she likes them to look polished, not thrown together. She has something of a head start, since that's the way she likes to look herself.

Fashion Picture For Autumn Has Rare Beauty

BY BERNADINE MORRIS
(c) New York Times Service

He's a designer whose time has come. Nothing he touches turns to dross, not even gold brocade for evening. He just shapes it into culottes, adds a fisher fur hemband and a jersey bodice, but that's running ahead of our story.

What makes the Blass collection so exceptional is that he has a point of view and he pursues it, without trying to be all things to all people. It focuses on tailored clothes, a genre he handles particularly well and one that a lot of other designers are groping with.

He's turned out the best collection on Seventh Avenue, and Seventh Avenue ought to be grateful. He's helped it save face as everybody looks to European ready-to-wear for inspiration.

Now, Blass is as American as — let's not fight it, apple pie — and so are his clothes. They're neat, clean-cut and expensive-looking. They're full of such old-fashioned goodies as beige gabardine, gray flannel and school girl plaids. It's nice to have them all back again.

Many years ago, there was such a thing as a three-piece suit when the third piece was a coat, not a blouse. It died a dowdy death, and not many designers would have the chutzpah to try bringing it back to life.

Blass does. The suit is in a checked wool, the coat is camel hair, with the same check on the reverse side, and the revival is so successful one wonders how we did without it for so long.

Everything is done with such style and conviction that you forget to object to those hats with the veils or the furs that are wrapped around one arm with the little legs hanging down.

He extends the tailored theme into evening with such nifty styles as a long plaid dress topped with a bright red blazer or a python-printed velvet suit with the same snake print on a chiffon blouse under it. There are evening culottes in glittery fabrics that will shine at the nicest parties and flower-printed velvet coat-dresses that open on knickers or shorts.

The trouble with the separates look that most designers are attempting for fall as part of their infatuation with sportswear is that it has to be done well. If it isn't, it can make women look like slobs.

When an outfit is composed of three or four different parts, none matching, each part had better hang properly. Hemlines shouldn't droop. An unattractive print is not magically improved when it's combined with two other unappealing ones.

She's been doing it for about three years now as the head of her own company, or a couple of years before many other designers got into the act. Though the rumpled-tweed look has its charms, that's not the kind of thing she's aiming at.

She's convinced that jackets with skirts or pants are a contemporary way of dressing, but she likes them to look polished, not thrown together. She has something of a head start, since that's the way she likes to look herself.

ELSIES AWARDED

Dr. Philip Heckman and Mrs Mark Muffley took top awards for their acting on Wednesday evening at the Lincoln Community Playhouse Elsie Awards Banquet.

A native of Pennsylvania, Dr. Heckman is currently the president of Doane College in Crete. He is hardly a stranger in community theatres, althought his appearance in "Harvey" was only his second appearance in Lincoln.

Mrs. Muffley's role in "Harvey" was her sixth at the Playhouse. She also has been a devoted volunteer for many years, serving as makeup artist on all main stage productions, sponsor of the Playhouse Youth Wing, Children's Theatre, backstage work, assistant president of the Playhouse Guild.

The Playhouse production of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?' was recognized as both Best Ensemble and Best Total Production for the season.

Judging for this year's Elsies was done by the audiences, who were given ballots with their programs at each show. According to Playhouse managing director, John R. Wilson, the response was most gratifying.

Backstage Club service pins were presented to the "unsung heroes" Joe Miller, for his work as costumer for the past thirty main stage productions, and Mrs. Neal Ridge, master puppeteer of the Playhouse for her guidance of the Puppeteers benefit performances in children's hospitals and other areas.

May Bride-Elect Is Party Honoree

They say that April showers bring May flowers, but in addition to all those May flowers "springing" up, we see that May is also the month for brides, and the wedding is naturally preceded by those many showers honoring the bride-elect.

One of the attractive May brides-to-be is Miss Patricia Dale McAdams, whose marriage to Nickolas L. Bronzon of Denver, Colo. will be solemnized on Saturday, May 29.

Tuesday evening, Miss McAdams was guest of honor at a personal and miscellaneous shower hosted by Mrs. Fred Bishop and her daughter Mrs. Larry Carr at the Bishop home.

May Bride-Elect Is Party Honoree

They say that April showers bring May flowers, but in addition to all those May flowers "springing" up, we see that May is also the month for brides, and the wedding is naturally preceded by those many showers honoring the bride-elect.

One of the attractive May brides-to-be is Miss Patricia Dale McAdams, whose marriage to Nickolas L. Bronzon of Denver, Colo. will be solemnized on Saturday, May 29.

Tuesday evening, Miss McAdams was guest of honor at a personal and miscellaneous shower hosted by Mrs. Fred Bishop and her daughter Mrs. Larry Carr at the Bishop home.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a veteran who may be confined to a wheelchair for the rest of his life. I am in love with Jon (I think) but I have so many doubts. I have always dreamed of a lovely wedding, and I love children, and have always pictured family outings with my children romping about with their mother and father. I have always loved skiing, swimming, tennis. How does a wife enjoy these sports with a husband in a wheelchair?

If I go thru with my plans to marry John, how does a bride walk down the aisle to be met by her groom who is seated in a wheelchair, waiting for her? Even the matter of wedding pictures will be a problem. I realize these sound like little things which should probably never bother me, but they do. Will my children feel cheated because their father won't be able to do things with them that their friends' fathers will he doing?

I am 20 years old, Abby, and should know my own mind, but I am frankly bewildered. Can you, or any of your experienced readers, help me?

MISERABLE IN MAINE

DEAR MISERABLE: You have too many doubts, my dear. If you really loved John, you wouldn't be asking for someone to "sell" you on marrying him. You would be determined to marry him — no matter what, and you'd be so sold that no one could talk you out of it.

DEAR ABBY: I have a sticky problem. I share an apartment with a young man from a foreign country. He is here for graduate study. I told him I was going out of town for the weekend and he asked me if he could have a friend stay with him in our apartment. I thought it was another fellow, since he is a married man and speaks so lovingly of his wife and child.

When I returned, he told me that his guest was a lady friend. I do not approve of adultery and was shocked and disappointed in this young man.

I plan to go away again, and my roommate has asked if he may have a guest (I presume it's the same one) in my absence. How should I handle this? He is older than I, and I am not about to give him a moral lecture, but I don't want to be a party to such goings on.

ACCOMPLICE

DEAR ACCOMPLICE: Tell your roommate what you have told me. And since your moral codes are not compatible with his, I think you'd both be happier with a change of roommates.

Opening lead — jack of spades.

A fine declarer makes it a practice to always formulate a plan before playing a card from dummy on the opening lead. He realizes he cannot expect good results with any degree of regularity if he plays on a trick-to-trick basis without planning the play of the hand as a whole.

Declarer sees that the only possible losers are a trump and three clubs. It certainly seems reasonable to count on discarding a club eventually on dummy's fourth diamond, and therefore the only real problem is to manage his trumps so that East cannot win a trick in the suit even if he has the queen. Declarer takes this firm view because he cannot afford to have East on lead for a deadly club return.

Accordingly, declarer wins the spade lead in his hand, cashes the ace of hearts, plays a spade to the king and leads a trump, finessing the ten after East follows low.

The finesse assures the contract, win or lose. In the actual case the finesse succeeds and South finishes the hand with eleven tricks.

But let's assume that the finesse loses to West's doubleton queen. Even so, the contract is secure regardless of the location of the ace of clubs. West can do no better than return a diamond and South disposes of one of his club losers on dummy's fourth diamond.

If declarer fails to take the trump finesse, he unnecessarily jeopardizes the contract, and in the present deal goes down one against proper defense.

Ak-Sar-Ben Veteran

Omaha — Joe Roh may be a rookie when it comes to cashing in tickets on horse races at Ak-Sar-Ben, but he's a veteran when it comes to handing them out.

"Things are so different since I started working here during the Depression," he says, "I needed a job then and I've been here ever since."

Beginning in 1935 when Ak-Sar-Ben first opened its doors, Roh has normally sold $15 combination tickets. He once sold $3 combination tickets, which he said were disbanded sometime in the 1940s.

Although he has worked continuously at every Ak-Sar-Ben meeting, he also sold tickets at the Fairgrounds races in Lincoln from 1950-1952. He would work mornings for the government at the Veterans Administration Hospital and then work at the track in the afternoons.

"I just bet doubles and once in awhile I'll play the horses," he says, "But I don't bet very much."

Roh says sellers must listen carefully to the numbers the patrons call since mistakes by sellers such as dispensing the wrong number or wrong quantity of tickets must be compensated for by the seller

Accurate Seller

"I had one ticket last year I punched wrong, but I don't get stuck with very many," Roh, 74, says, "Last year some man wanted to buy 40 tickets, so I suggested that he go to the $50 windows since there wouldn't be so much work involved — people would rather buy a flock of $15 combos than one $50 ticket."

But either way, Roh can rattle off the prices for any number of tickets as if he were a miniature computer. He adds: "No, I'm not very smart in mathematics, I've just sold tickets so long, I'm sort of used to how much they cost."

When Roh first began at the Omaha track, tickets were in boxes and sellers just pulled them out and handed them to bettors But today it is all done by punching machines which are hooked into computers.

"I liked the old way — because if you made a mistake, all you had to do was put the ticket back in the box," he says, "Now if you make a mistake you pay for it."

Roh says that in the 30s the majority of horse players were either retired or in their late 60s. But today, he says younger persons are taking up playing the horses and some of them in "heavy" quantities.

"There's just more money around today than during the Depression when I started here," he says, "You used to never see any kids here but now some of them bet more than the older folks do."

Different Characters

While many of the bettors are regulars, Roh has encountered many different types of trackgoers such as: people that read the Daily Racing Form upside-down; women that fight over which ticket they want at the window, and old men with baseball caps that scoop discarded tickets in hopes of finding a good one

Although he retired from his government job in 1967, Roh says he doesn't plan to retire from mutuel selling for quite a while.

"As long as I feel good, it's still fun to sell," he adds, "We once had a man selling until he was 78 — I want to get that record."

RENTZEL TRADED BY DALLAS

Cowboys Get Traux, Tucker From Rams

. . . CHARGERS' ALWORTH ALSO PICKED UP

New lead only to rentzel traded—Star sports

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys traded troubled flanker Lance Rentzel to Los Angeles and obtained star receiver Lance Alworth of San Diego Wednesday in a flurry of trades involving seven players.

Rentzel, 27, of five-years' probation for indecent exposure, was traded to the Rams in exchange for wide receiver Wendell Tucker and tough tight end Billy Truax.

Alworth, the No. 7 all-time receiver in professional football, came to the Cowboys in exchange for tight end Pettis Norman, offensive tackle Tony Liscio and defensive tackle Ron East.

Rentzel, husband of motion picture and television personality Joey Heatherton, said "When you think about it, I think this is the best thing for all parties. I'm grateful-they traded me to an area where I have so many friends and to such a good team and a fine organization."

Cowboy coach Tom Landry said "We know we are giving up one of the top flankers in the league, but I thought he (Rentzel) would be better off in another city where he had the same opportunity regularly."

Sid Gillman, head coach and executive vice president of the Chargers, said "This was a difficult decision made in the best interests of the team."

Gillman said Alworth, former Arkansas star, was "the all-time, all-pro in my book." Alworth is the only player in pro history to gain more than 1,000 yards receiving in seven consecutive seasons.

"I've never known anyone in the history of the game to have his excellence," Gillman said. "He was the greatest Charger and Mr. American Football League."

Landry said Alworth's record "speaks for itself." You look at all the receivers in the 1960s and you have to rate Alworth the receivers in the 1960s and you have to rate Alworth the top receiver for that period. We feel he has several outstanding years in him."

In nine seasons, Alworth, 30, has caught 493 passes for 9,584 yards and 81 touchdowns.

Landry said Tucker "is a great deep threat, very explosive and a very dangerous receiver."

Dallas also has needed a clutch-receiving tight end and Landry said of Truax "Year in and year out he's been consistent and a clutch performer. We feel we're getting one of the top tight ends."

Rentzel's trade climaxed weeks of rumors in which he was reported headed to the New York Jets or the Rams.

Rentzel joined Dallas after a 1967 trade with the Minnesota Vikings. His six-year career totals include 185 catches for 3,531 yards and 31 touchdowns.

Truax has hauled down 180 passes for 2,177 yards and 16 touchdowns in seven seasons while Tucker has speared 57 passes for 983 yards and 11 touchdowns in four seasons.

Rentzel, who received the probated sentence in April on a guilty plea of exposing himself by a 10-year-old girl last November, said he met with Cowboy officials several months ago and discussed a trade.

"I told them then my first loyalty was to the Cowboys, but that I had a great deal of respect for them and whatever they thought was the best for me and the team was what I wanted themt do," Rentzel said.

He added "Certainly I'm sorry to be leaving the team and the organization which stood behind me. When you get loyalty like that you want to repay it. It was a great thing for me when Dallas gave me a chance.

"But right now, I'm glad to be back in the NFL and I hope to have a great year with my new team."

Exercises Begin For Colt Unitas

Baltimore (AP) — The cast has been removed from the right Foot of Baltimore Colts' quarterback John Unitas, who tore an achilles tendon playing paddle-ball six weeks ago.

"The cast was taken off Monday," said Bill Neill, physical therapist at Kernan's Hospital "He has started active exercises to strengthen the tendon repair and regain motion of the ankle joint."

Neill said Unitas will progress later to more resistive exercises, with weights, and then to rope jumping.

"He's good at jumping rope," Neill said. "He's been doing that for years as part of his regular preseason workouts. John can do that like a boxer."

OU Beats Cyclones For Big Eight Lead

Ames, Iowa (AP) — Oklahoma gained sole possession of first place in the Big Eight baseball chase here Wednesday by lacing defending champion Iowa State, 5-1.

Freshman curve ball artist Jackson Todd struck out 14 batters and yielded only five hits to hand the Sooners the rubber game of the three-game series.

The victory boosted Oklahoma's conference mark to 12-6 and dropped Iowa State one full game behind at 11-7. Each team has three remaining games with the Sooners hosting Missouri while the Cyclones travel to Nebraska this weekend.

OU pushed across three unearned runs in the second inning off loser Mike Gillespie Pat Parkhurst went to second base after catcher Larry Corrigan dropped a third strike pitch and threw past first base. An infield single by Joe Simpson and a double off Jim Nosari's bat scored the first run. Simpson and Nosari both scored when third baseman Steve Norris' throw on an infield grounder was wide at first.

A leadoff triple by Simpson and Nosari's single netted another run in the third. Parkhurst's fifth inning single chased in the other run.

Alberts, a senior from Jefferson City, was injured while covering first base on a bunt situation in a drill. The throw was wide and Alberts collided with the runner.

Bob Hirst will replace Alberts in the Tigers' lineup.

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Trans-Nebraska and Big Ten Conference champion Grand Island and Metro standouts Benson, Burke and Tech rank as the favorites for the team title when the Class A state high school track and field meet opens a two-day stand in Kearney Friday.

The Islanders have particular strength in the field events behind discus thrower Ron Loewenstein and shot putters Jerry Andersen and Lyle Knuth plus distance ace Dave Bosley.

The defending champions in both hurdle races, Tech's Howard Beacham in the highs and Ken Adkins of Lincoln High in the lows, both will be on hand in Kearney.

The hurdle races will have an exceptionally strong and balanced field. Omaha Central's Doug Mann, Jerry Bull of Benson, Norfolk's Mike Zobel and Randy Sazama of Fremont are all title threats.

Burke, which has its main strength concentrated in the dashes, will find itself somewhat neutralized by a host of Hastings speedsters and Bellevue's Joe Shirey, who was second at state in the 220 last May.

Very few individual records appear to be in danger, based on the best season-long performances by the big school stars.

If everyone equals his best effort of the entire year, just two new records will be established this weekend. But the extra adrenalin that always flows during the cinder classic will likely produce some others.

Lauer set a new record last May at 14-6, but he has cleared an alltime state high of 15-1⅛ this spring. Fremont's Mike Cockerham has also exceeded the record height with a 14-7 vault.

The other is the two mile relay record of 8:05.1 set by Omaha Westside in 1964. A Lincoln Northeast quartet has a best of 8:04.1 this season.

Three other existing records are also in danger. Art Smith of Hastings has equalled the 100-yard dash state mark of :09.7 this spring and Beacham's best high hurdle timing of the year also matches the state record of :14 2, co-held by Omaha Central's Joe Orduna (1965) and Randy Butts of Grand Island (1969).

The third is the 4:16.0 mile run record set last May by Grand Island's Lynn Hall. Ron Greeno of Lincoln Northeast clipped off a 4-16 1 two weeks ago and could dip below the record pace

Ak-Sar-Ben Veteran

Omaha — Joe Roh may be a rookie when it comes to cashing in tickets on horse races at Ak-Sar-Ben, but he's a veteran when it comes to handing them out.

"Things are so different since I started working here during the Depression," he says, "I needed a job then and I've been here ever since."

Although he has worked continuously at every Ak-Sar-Ben meeting, he also sold tickets at the Fairgrounds races in Lincoln from 1950-1952. He would work mornings for the government at the Veterans Administration Hospital and then work at the track in the afternoons.

"I just bet doubles and once in awhile I'll play the horses," he says, "But I don't bet very much."

Roh says sellers must listen carefully to the numbers the patrons call since mistakes by sellers such as dispensing the wrong number or wrong quantity of tickets must be compensated for by the seller.

Accurate Seller

"I had one ticket last year I punched wrong, but I don't get stuck with very many," Roh, 74, says, "Last year some man wanted to buy 40 tickets, so I suggested that he go to the $50 windows since there wouldn't be so much work involved — people would rather buy a flock of $15 combos than one $50 ticket."

But either way, Roh can rattle off the prices for any number of tickets as if he were a miniature computer. He adds: "No, I'm not very smart in mathematics, I've just sold tickets so long, I'm sort of used to how much they cost."

When Roh first began at the Omaha track, tickets were in boxes and sellers just pulled them out and handed them to bettors. But today it is all done by punching machines which are hooked into computers.

"I liked the old way — because if you made a mistake, all you had to do was put the ticket back in the box," he says. "Now if you make a mistake you pay for it."

Roh says that in the 30s the majority of horse players were either retired or in their late 60s. But today, he says younger persons are taking up playing the horses and some of them in "heavy" quantities.

"There's just more money around today than during the Depression when I started here," he says, "You used to never see any kids here but now some of them bet more than the older folks do."

Different Characters

While many of the bettors are regulars, Roh has encountered many different types of trackgoers such as: people that read the Daily Racing Form upside-down; women that fight over which ticket they want at the window, and old men with baseball caps that scoop discarded tickets in hopes of finding a good one.

Although he retired from his government job in 1967, Roh says he doesn't plan to retire from mutuel selling for quite a while.

"As long as I feel good, it's still fun to sell," he adds, "We once had a man selling until he was 78 — I want to get that record."

RENTZEL TRADED BY DALLAS

Cowboys Get Traux, Tucker From Rams

. . . CHARGERS' ALWORTH ALSO PICKED UP

New lead only to rentzel traded—Star sports....

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys traded troubled flanker Lance Rentzel to Los Angeles and obtained star receiver Lance Alworth of San Diego Wednesday in a flurry of trades involving seven players.

Rentzel, 27, of five-years' probation for indecent exposure, was traded to the Rams in exchange for wide receiver Wendell Tucker and tough tight end Billy Truax.

Alworth, the No. 7 all-time receiver in professional football, came to the Cowboys in exchange for tight end Pettis Norman, offensive tackle Tony Liscio and defensive tackle Ron East.

Rentzel, husband of motion picture and television personality Joey Heatherton, said "When you think about it, I think this is the best thing for all parties. I'm grateful they traded me to an area where I have so many friends and to such a good team and a fine organization."

Cowboy coach Tom Landry said "We know we are giving up one of the top flankers in the league, but I thought he (Rentzel) would be better off in another city where he had the same opportunity regularly."

Sid Gillman, head coach and executive vice president of the Chargers, said "This was a difficult decision made in the best interests of the team."

Gillman said Alworth, former Arkansas star, was "the all-time, all-pro in my book." Alworth is the only player in pro history to gain more than 1,000 yards receiving in seven consecutive seasons.

"I've never known anyone in the history of the game to have his excellence," Gillman said. "He was the greatest Charger and Mr. American Football League."

Landry said Alworth's record "speaks for itself." You look at all the receivers in the 1960s and you have to rate Alworth the receivers in the 1960s and you have to rate Alworth the top receiver for that period. We feel he has several outstanding years in him."

In nine seasons, Alworth, 30, has caught 493 passes for 9,584 yards and 81 touchdowns.

Landry said Tucker "is a great deep threat, very explosive and a very dangerous receiver."

Dallas also has needed a clutch-receiving tight end and Landry said of Truax "Year in and year out he's been consistent and a clutch performer. We feel we're getting one of the top tight ends."

Rentzel's trade climaxed weeks of rumors in which he was reported headed to the New York Jets or the Rams.

Rentzel joined Dallas after a 1967 trade with the Minnesota Vikings. His six-year career totals include 185 catches for 3,531 yards and 31 touchdowns.

Truax has hauled down 180 passes for 2,177 yards and 16 touchdowns in seven seasons while Tucker has speared 57 passes for 983 yards and 11 touchdowns in four seasons.

Rentzel, who received the probated sentence in April on a guilty plea of exposing himself by a 10-year-old girl last November, said he met with Cowboy officials several months ago and discussed a trade.

"I told them then my first loyalty was to the Cowboys, but that I had a great deal of respect for them and whatever they thought was the best for me and the team was what I wanted themt do," Rentzel said.

He added "Certainly I'm sorry to be leaving the team and the organization which stood behind me. When you get loyalty like that you want to repay it. It was a great thing for me when Dallas gave me a chance.

"But right now, I'm glad to be back in the NFL and I hope to have a great year with my new team."

OU Beats Cyclones For Big Eight Lead

Ames, Iowa (AP) — Oklahoma gained sole possession of first place in the Big Eight baseball chase here Wednesday by lacing defending champion Iowa State, 5-1.

Freshman curve ball artist Jackson Todd struck out 14 batters and yielded only five hits to hand the Sooners the rubber game of the three-game series.

The victory boosted Oklahoma's conference mark to 12-6 and dropped Iowa State one full game behind at 11-7. Each team has three remaining games with the Sooners hosting Missouri while the Cyclones travel to Nebraska this weekend.

OU pushed across three unearned runs in the second inning off loser Mike Gillespie. Pat Parkhurst went to second base after catcher Larry Corrigan dropped a third strike pitch and threw past first base. An infield single by Joe Simpson and a double off Jim Nosari's bat scored the first run. Simpson and Nosari both scored when third baseman Steve Norris' throw on an infield grounder was wide at first.

A leadoff triple by Simpson and Nosari's single netted another run in the third. Parkhurst's fifth inning single chased in the other run.

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Trans-Nebraska and Big Ten Conference champion Grand Island and Metro standouts Benson, Burke and Tech rank as the favorites for the team title when the Class A state high school track and field meet opens a two-day stand in Kearney Friday.

A traditionally close finish is forecast for the big school division crown.

The Islanders have particular strength in the field events behind discus thrower Ron Loewenstein and shot putters Jerry Andersen and Lyle Knuth plus distance ace Dave Bosley.

A key to Grand Island's title hopes may rest on the shoulders of hurdler Steve Buckner, who recorded a double win in the barrier events at his district meet last week.

The defending champions in both hurdle races, Tech's Howard Beacham in the highs and Ken Adkins of Lincoln High in the lows, both will be on hand in Kearney.

The hurdle races will have an exceptionally strong and balanced field. Omaha Central's Doug Mann, Jerry Bull of Benson, Norfolk's Mike Zobel and Randy Sazama of Fremont are all title threats.

Burke, which has its main strength concentrated in the dashes, will find itself somewhat neutralized by a host of Hastings speedsters and Bellevue's Joe Shirey, who was second at state in the 220 last May.

Very few individual records appear to be in danger, based on the best season-long performances by the big school stars.

If everyone equals his best effort of the entire year, just two new records will be established this weekend. But the extra adrenalin that always flows during the cinder classic will likely produce some others.

In addition to Beacham and Adkins in the hurdles, one other defending champion is back, North Platte's Bill Lauer in the pole vault.

Lauer set a new record last May at 14-6, but he has cleared an alltime state high of 15-1¼ this spring. Fremont's Mike Cockerham has also exceeded the record height with a 14-7 vault.

The other is the two mile relay record of 8:05.1 set by Omaha Westside in 1964. A Lincoln Northeast quartet has a best of 8:04.1 this season.

Three other existing records are also in danger. Art Smith of Hastings has equalled the 100-yard dash state mark of :09.7 this spring and Beacham's best high hurdle timing of the year also matches the state record of :14.2, co-held by Omaha Central's Joe Orduna (1965) and Randy Butts of Grand Island (1969).

The third is the 4:16.0 mile run record set last May by Grand Island's Lynn Hall. Ron Greeno of Lincoln Northeast clipped off a 4:16.1 two weeks ago and could dip below the record pace.

Phillies Tip New York From East's Top Spot

. . . METS DROP FOURTH STRAIGHT

By Associated Press

The New York Mets, who only last Saturday held a three-game lead over Pittsburgh, tumbled out of first place in the National League East Wednesday night.

Philadelphia knocked the Mets off the top rung by handing the New Yorkers their fourth straight defeat, 4-1 on Terry Harmon's three-run double in the seventh inning.

Pittsburgh, defending NL East champs, regained the No. 1 spot by whipping Cincinnati 6-1 on Roberto Clemente's inside-the-park third-inning home run that put the Pirates ahead to stay at 2-1.

Boston maintained its 2½-game lead over Baltimore in the American League East by beating the New York Yankees 7-2 on Reggie Smith's two-run homer in the seventh that broke a 2-2 tie. Unbeaten Sonny Siebert won his seventh straight game for the Red Sox.

Baltimore downed Washington 4-1, two homers by Clete Boyer helped Atlanta beat Montreal 10-4 and San Diego shaded Houston 2-1 in 10 innings on Ollie Brown's RBI single.

Billy Williams drove in six runs with a triple and two homers as the Chicago Cubs whipped San Francisco 9-5. Los Angeles edged St. Louis 6-5 on a two-out RBI single by Bobby Valentine in the eighth off Bob Gibson.

Paul Schaal's RBI triple in the sixth and Amos Otis' homer in the seventh gave Kansas City a 2-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox. Detroit routed Cleveland 12-1 with Dick McAuliffe driving in four runs with a homer and a double.

Johnson's Attitude Challenging

Los Angeles (AP) — Veteran relief pitcher Eddie Fisher said Wednesday there was a communications gap between outfielder Alex Johnson and other players on the California Angels.

Johnson, the American League's batting champion for 1970, was benched last weekend by Manager Lefty Phillips who said the player's attitude was defiant.

Johnson returned to the starting lineup this week for the Angels who are in third place in the American League West.

Appearing at the Southern California Sportscasters and Broadcasters meeting, Fisher said, "I have never ripped another ball player on ability. In the case of Johnson, it goes into attitude the other things.

"If this man could play up to his capabilities, he could be the highest paid player in baseball. There is something wrong with his attitude.

"All of us have talked to him, but he doesn't talk back. He is a hard guy to understand. I just hope we can break through to him.

Although Johnson won the batting title a year ago, he has been hitting only .240 this season and has appeared lackadaisical in the field.

Judge Seeks Wells Report

Oakland (AP) — The judge who placed Oakland Raiders standout Warren Wells on probation last month said Wednesday he will ask for a detailed report on the Sunday night stabbing of Wells in Texas.

Wells was recovering Wednesday in a Beaumont, Tex., hospital from a stab wound near his heart. He was stabbed by a young woman in a Beaumont bar.

Judge Leonard Dieden of Alameda Superior Court, who is asking for the report on the weekend incident, put Wells back on probation after the football player underwent 60 days of diagnostic tests in a California state rehabilitation center.

Dieden originally placed Wells on three years probation after he was convicted of attempted rape in 1969. The probation was revoked last winter after Wells was arrested twice on drunken driving charges.

Beaumont police said an assault warrant against Jeannett Landry, 25, was dismissed because Wells decided not to press charges.

WSU Selects Nagel As AD

Pullman, Wash. (AP) — Ray Nagel, former University of Iowa football coach, has been appointed Washington State University athletic director effective July 1, WSU officials announced Wednesday.

Nagel, 44, will replace Stan Bates, who will assume duties as Western Athletic Conference commissioner following 17 years at WSU.

Nagel served as head coach at Iowa since 1956 after eight years in the same capacity at Utah. Prior to that, he was an assistant coach at Oklahoma and UCLA and sandwiched in one year as a player-coach with the National Football League Chicago Cardinals.

He graduated from UCLA in 1950 and posted several records as a quarterback.

Nagel had a 16-30-2 coaching record at Iowa and his 1970 team finished 3-6-1. He resigned Dec. 1, saying he would not seek an extension of his five-year contract.

. . . METS DROP FOURTH STRAIGHT

By Associated Press

The New York Mets, who only last Saturday held a three-game lead over Pittsburgh, tumbled out of first place in the National League East Wednesday night.

Philadelphia knocked the Mets off the top rung by handing the New Yorkers their fourth straight defeat, 4-1 on Terry Harmon's three-run double in the seventh inning.

Pittsburgh, defending NL East champs, regained the No. 1 spot by whipping Cincinnati 6-1 on Roberto Clemente's inside-the-park third-inning home run that put the Pirates ahead to stay at 2-1.

Boston maintained its 2½-game lead over Baltimore in the American League East by beating the New York Yankees 7-2 on Reggie Smith's two-run homer in the seventh that broke a 2-2 tie. Unbeaten Sonny Siebert won his seventh straight game for the Red Sox.

Baltimore downed Washington 4-1, two homers by Clete Boyer helped Atlanta beat Montreal 10-4 and San Diego shaded Houston 2-1 in 10 innings on Ollie Brown's RBI single.

Billy Williams drove in six runs with a triple and two homers as the Chicago Cubs whipped San Francisco 9-5. Los Angeles edged St. Louis 6-5 on a two-out RBI single by Bobby Valentine in the eighth off Bob Gibson.

Paul Schaal's RBI triple in the sixth and Amos Otis' homer in the seventh gave Kansas City a 2-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox. Detroit routed Cleveland 12-1 with Dick McAuliffe driving in four runs with a homer and a double.

In late West coast games hot-handed Vida Blue spun a three-hitter and nailed down his ninth straight victory as the Oakland A's turned back the Milwaukee Brewers, 3-0.

Tommy Casanova, Louisiana State defensive halfback; Ernie Cook, Minnesota fullback; Symlie Gebhart, Georgia Tech defensive end; and Curt Watson, Tennessee fullback, will tour Pacific-area hospitals for 16 days. Going with them will be Wayne Duke Big Eight Conference commissioner. They will leave June 9.

The visits are being sponsored by the Department of Defense in cooperation with the NCAA.

Johnson's Attitude Challenging

Los Angeles (AP) — Veteran relief pitcher Eddie Fisher said Wednesday there was a communications gap between outfielder Alex Johnson and other players on the California Angels.

Johnson, the American League's batting champion for 1970, was benched last weekend by Manager Lefty Phillips who said the player's attitude was defiant.

Johnson returned to the starting lineup this week for the Angels who are in third place in the American League West.

Appearing at the Southern California Sportscasters and Broadcasters meeting, Fisher said, "I have never ripped another ball player on ability. In the case of Johnson, it goes into attitude the other things.

"If this man could play up to his capabilities, he could be the highest paid player in baseball. There is something wrong with his attitude.

"All of us have talked to him, but he doesn't talk back. He is a hard guy to understand. I just hope we can break through to him.

Although Johnson won the batting title a year ago, he has been hitting only .240 this season and has appeared lackadaisical in the field.

Murtaugh Jailed Following Tavern Assault Incident

Former NU football All-American, Jerry Murtaugh, was jailed Thursday night in connection with an assault which occurred at the Spigot Tavern at 304 So. 13th, according to police Capt. Robert Butcher.

Butcher said that James Saunders, 25, of 3914 So. 19th, was taken to Lincoln General Hospital where he was treated for facial cuts and bruises received in the fight.

Feigner's Crew Set For Lincoln

There will be plenty of high jinks at Sherman Field, May 29, when Eddie Feigner and his four-man softball team, The King and His Court, play an 8 p.m. contest against KOLN-KGIN-TVs local Triple A club.

Also on the program is a 6 p.m. encounter between reigning Lineoln city champion King's and Nebraska State titleholder Kearney.

Judge Seeks Wells Report

Oakland (AP) — The judge who placed Oakland Raiders standout Warren Wells on probation last month said Wednesday he will ask for a detailed report on the Sunday night stabbing of Wells in Texas.

Wells was recovering Wednesday in a Beaumont, Tex., hospital from a stab wound near his heart. He was stabbed by a young woman in a Beaumont bar.

Under probationary terms set for Wells last month he is not supposed to drink alcoholic beverages.

Judge Leonard Dieden of Alameda Superior Court, who is asking for the report on the weekend incident, put Wells back on probation after the football player underwent 60 days of diagnostic tests in a California state rehabilitation center.

Dieden originally placed Wells on three years probation after he was convicted of attempted rape in 1969. The probation was revoked last winter after Wells was arrested twice on drunken driving charges.

Beaumont police said an assault warrant against Jeannett Landry, 25, was dismissed because Wells decided not to press charges.

WSU Selects Nagel As AD

Pullman, Wash. (AP) — Ray Nagel, former University of Iowa football coach, has been appointed Washington State University athletic director effective July 1, WSU officials announced Wednesday.

Nagel, 44, will replace Stan Bates, who will assume duties as Western Athletic Conference commissioner following 17 years at WSU.

Nagel served as head coach at Iowa since 1956 after eight years in the same capacity at Utah. Prior to that, he was an assistant coach at Oklahoma and UCLA and sandwiched in one year as a player-coach with the National Football League Chicago Cardinals.

He graduated from UCLA in 1950 and posted several records as a quarterback.

Nagel had a 16-30-2 coaching record at Iowa and his 1970 team finished 3-6-1. He resigned Dec. 1, saying he would not seek an extension of his five-year contract.

Nebraska Teams Ready For JC Championships

. . . MEET SLATED FOR MESA TODAY

Nebraska will be represented by three schools in the National Junior College Track Championships which start today and run through Saturday at Mesa, Ariz.

North Platte JC, which coasted to the Nebraska Jr. College Conference and Region 9 titles, will send a four-man contingent headed by Karl Webb, who will compete in the 100, 220 and triple jump.

North Platte also will enter Bruce Borden in the shot put and discus, Ralph Fischer in the 120 high hurdles and possibly the 440 intermediate hurdles and Larry Sandoval in the two-mile.

Fairbury JC will send a six-man team headed by nationally-ranked weightman Cliff Stovall, who will compete in the shot put and discus.

Fairbury also will enter hurdler-pole vaulter Jerry Owens, quarter miler-half miler Larry Owens, quartermiler George Brennen and sprinter Robert Duncan.

Larry Owens, Brennen and Duncan will combine with leadoff runner Randy Petersen in the mile relay.

Nebraska Western JC will send a six-man squad headed by long jumper-triple jumper Dave Cashman.

The Scottsbluff school also will enter miler John Perez, half miler Roger Gwin, sprinter Eric Kufeldt and intermediate hurdlers Kim Elder and Mike Yates.

Reckewey, Kropp Will Get Honors

Nebraska basketball all-staters Tom Kropp of Aurora and Kent Reckewey of Lincoln East are to receive "Top 100" awards this week.

Lothamer Will End One-Year Retirement

Kansas City (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs of the National Football League said Wednesday that Ed Lothamer has ended his one-year retirement and will report to training camp in July.

Lothamer, a defensive tackle, will also be tried at defensive end, the team said.

Boeka Tops Batters

The nifty Third City product had a .347 mark with an unusual twist of having 26 hits in 26 games. His number of hits also was a club leading effort and he and Ross Stephenson, a Lincoln freshman, were the only two players to perform in all the NWU games.

Southpaw Gary Behrends had a 3-0 record on the mound to lead Mike Garlow (4-3) and Earl Nannen (3-2).

Nebraska Teams Ready For JC Championships

. . . MEET SLATED FOR MESA TODAY

Nebraska will be represented by three schools in the National Junior College Track Championships which start today and run through Saturday at Mesa, Ariz.

North Platte JC, which coasted to the Nebraska Jr. College Conference and Region 9 titles, will send a four-man contingent headed by Karl Webb, who will compete in the 100, 220 and triple jump.

North Platte also will enter Bruce Borden in the shot put and discus, Ralph Fischer in the 120 high hurdles and possibly the 440 intermediate hurdles and Larry Sandoval in the two-mile.

Fairbury JC will send a six-man team headed by nationally-ranked weightman Cliff Stovall, who will compete in the shot put and discus.

Fairbury also will enter hurdler-pole vaulter Jerry Owens, quarter miler-half miler Larry Owens, quartermiler George Brennen and sprinter Robert Duncan.

Larry Owens, Brennen and Duncan will combine with leadoff runner Randy Petersen in the mile relay.

Nebraska Western JC will send a six-man squad headed by long jumper-triple jumper Dave Cashman.

The Scottsbluff school also will enter miler John Perez, half miler Roger Gwin, sprinter Eric Kufeldt and intermediate hurdlers Kim Elder and Mike Yates.

Reckewey, Kropp Will Get Honors

Nebraska basketball all-staters Tom Kropp of Aurora and Kent Reckewey of Lincoln East are to receive "Top 100" awards this week.

Kropp is to receive his award Thursday and Reckewey Friday as part of honor programs at the two schools.

Lothamer Will End One-Year Retirement

Kansas City (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs of the National Football League said Wednesday that Ed Lothamer has ended his one-year retirement and will report to training camp in July.

Lothamer, a defensive tackle, will also be tried at defensive end, the team said.

Boeka Tops Batters

The nifty Third City product had a .347 mark with an unusual twist of having 26 hits in 26 games. His number of hits also was a club leading effort and he and Ross Stephenson, a Lincoln freshman, were the only two players to perform in all the NWU games.

Southpaw Gary Behrends had a 3-0 record on the mound to lead Mike Garlow (4-3) and Earl Nannen (3-2).

State's Pheasant Level Stays Intact From 1970

. . . GAME COMMISSION SURVEY SHOWS

Nebraska's breeding population of pheasants is at about the same level as it was last spring, according to results of a survey taken by the state's rural mail carriers and compiled by Game Commission biologists.

The 705 participating carriers traveled 203,952 miles and spotted 13,344 pheasants during a four-day period during the week of April 19. This represents a decline of about four percent, an insignificant figure when considering the variables such as wind, temperature, and rain, that might have influenced the birds on the days of the survey.

Three regions of the state showed increases, while the other three registered declines. The southwest had the greatest increase, with 17 percent more birds spotted this year over last year. Other regions showing improvement were: Sand Hills, up 10 percent, and central, up 8 percent. Areas with declines were the northeast, down 4 percent; the Panhandle, down 19 percent, and southeast, down 11 percent.

Nebraska should be in good shape as far as the breeding population is concerned, according to the biologists. But, the big factor in providing birds for next fall's seasons is the success of pheasant nesting, which is now under way.

Rural mailmen have cooperated with the Game Commission in similar surveys since 1945, noting the number of birds they spot while covering their regular daily routes. Their data has provided information valuable to biologists in pheasant management. One advantage the mail carrier count gives over other methods is that it provides a much wider sample than would be possible using the Game Commission's limited number of game technicians and conservation officers.

Another pheasant survey will be conducted in July to determine the success of this year's nesting season. Rural mail carriers will make their observations at the end of July, while Game Commission personnel will conduct a four week count beginning about July 1.

Veteran Husker quarterback and assistant coach Ernie Sigler will devote his time to working with the prep quarterbacks, Kiffin said.

Receivers — Guy Ingles
Offensive Line — Wally Winter and Donnie McGhee
Defensive Line — Ed Periard and Dave Walline

Market Closes Slightly Higher

New York (AP) — The stock market closed slightly higher Wednesday as the two-day selloff came to an end. Trading was dull.

This slim rise was viewed by analysts, however, as only a halt to the market's downward motion. They pointed out that the market had been edging lower for the past three weeks. During the past two days the Dow fell some 17 points.

The end to the rail strike, though expected, may have nonetheless boosted investor morale, some analysts said. They added, though, the investors were still worried over rising interest rates and the U.S. balance of payments deficit.

Of the 1,671 stocks traded on the Big Board, 693 advanced and 643 declined. There were 26 new highs and 43 new lows.

Steels, motors, rubber issues, aircrafts, metals, and airlines were higher. Rails, utilities and mail order-retail were lower.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index gained 0.04 to 25.87. Of the 1,131 stocks traded, 425 declined and 431 advanced. Volume totalled 3.3 million shares, as compared with 5.0 million shares Tuesday.

Fed Cattle Generally 25c Higher

Some four loads of choice to prime 1,200-1,278 lb fed beeves turned at 33.85-34. Other well-finished steers sold from 33.60 and up, choice in bulk down to 32.25.

Most 190-240 lb barrows and gilts cleared at 18.25-19, one consignment 1-2s scaling 221 lbs topping at 19.25. Most sales lean 20-240 lb weights at 18.25-18.85.

Fat lambs were steady, few toppy new crops 32.00.

Surge Of Buying Lifts Corn Prices

Chicago (AP) —A surge of buying in the last hour of trade sent corn futures upward by nearly 2 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday.

Soybeans closed almost as much higher, but wheat and oats closed on an irregular tone.

Before the late buying, most of the trading activity was concentrated in the expiring May contract in all commodities. The May wheat option closed out at 9⅜ cents above the previous close. May soybeans went off the board 2⅛ cents higher, but May corn closed 4¾ cents lower and May oats went out at 3⅜ cents lower.

At the close, corn was ⅛ to 1¾ cents a bushel higher, July 1.44¼; soybeans were 1 to 1⅜ cents higher, July 2.99⅜; oats were ¼ lower to ¼ higher, July 66¾; and wheat was ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, July 1.49⅜.

Market Closes Slightly Higher

New York (AP) — The stock market closed slightly higher Wednesday as the two-day selloff came to an end. Trading was dull.

This slim rise was viewed by analysts, however, as only a halt to the market's downward motion. They pointed out that the market had been edging lower for the past three weeks. During the past two days the Dow fell some 17 points.

The end to the rail strike, though expected, may have nonetheless boosted investor morale, some analysts said. They added, though, the investors were still worried over rising interest rates and the U.S. balance of payments deficit.

Of the 1,671 stocks traded on the Big Board, 693 advanced and 643 declined. There were 26 new highs and 43 new lows.

The Associated Press 60-stock average gained 0.1 to 321.7, with industrials up 1.3, rails off 0.5, and utilities down 0.3.

Steels, motors, rubber issues, aircrafts, metals, and airlines were higher. Rails, utilities and mail order-retail were lower.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index gained 0.04 to 25.87. Of the 1,131 stocks traded, 425 declined and 431 advanced. Volume totalled 3.3 million shares, as compared with 5.0 million shares Tuesday.

Surge Of Buying Lifts Corn Prices

Chicago (AP) —A surge of buying in the last hour of trade sent corn futures upward by nearly 2 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday.

Soybeans closed almost as much higher, but wheat and oats closed on an irregular tone.

Before the late buying, most of the trading activity was concentrated in the expiring May contract in all commodities. The May wheat option closed out at 93⅜ cents above the previous close. Prosecutors Labeled As Having 'Fantasies'

©The New York Times

Seattle — Leslie Bacon went off to jail Wednesday night after denouncing the government's prosecutors as having "paranoid fantasies" about the national capitol bombing.

As she left the courtroom, her supporters sang a new chant that will be heard a lot at radical rallies — "Free Leslie Bacon, fascist dogs, we need our sisters beside us.

In the courtroom before she was sentenced to jail for contempt of court because of her refusal to answer questions before a federal grand jury, Miss Bacon heard 18 questions read that gave an outline of the government's theory who was involved, the amount of explosive used and the place the plan was made to blow up a men's rest room in the Senate wing on March 1.

"I have no intention of answering the questions," the 19-year-old daughter of a well-to-do family at Atherton, Calif., said to Judge William N. Goodwin.

"I don't think the government's attitude is one of trying to find the truth of this matter," she said. "I answered some of them over and over again.

The government is trying to frame us and other innocent people to make their own paranoid fantasies legitimate. I don't propose to talk to them."

Turned Over To Marshal

Judge Goodwin turned her over to the U.S. Marshal to be held until the Grand Jury term ends in March 1972 or until she answers the questions.

In the hour before the sentencing, more was revealed about the government's suspicions than has been known since Miss Bacon was arrested on the night of April 27 in a house occupied by a communal group in Northwest Washington, D.C.

The questions revealed the names of nine people the government suspects of some involvement. They showed that the government suspects that a plan was made in Ann Arbor, Mich., at a meeting early in February, and that a Seattle group at the meeting had a plan.

Claim Denied

Phnom Penh (AP) —A cultural official has denied that the famous temple of Angkor Wat was damaged by Cambodian artillery fire, the government news agency reported.

Women Claimed Better Equipped For A Cold Sea

London (AP) — A British navy expert says the extra layer of fatty tissue a woman has equips her better to survive in a cold sea and therefore, "technically speaking, the lifeboat drill should be 'men and children first.'

"Whether it's humanly acceptable to all concerned is a different matter," said Lt. Cmdr. Frank Golden of the Royal Navy's air medical school Tuesday.

Kearney Tot's Death Blamed On Meningitis

Kearney (AP) — The death of two-year-old Julia C. Mickelsen in Kearney's Good Samaritan Hospital Sunday was the result of spinal meningitis, a spokesman for the hospital medical staff said.

The girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mickelsen of Kearney.

The physician said the meningitis bacteria is always present and there are human carriers of the disease in any population, but only a small percentage of people harbor the bacteria that cause meningitis.

There are "occasional sporadic cases of the disease," he said. "But one case doesn't mean that there will be an epidemic."

There are preventive measures which can be taken and persons who have been in close contact with a meningitis victim should contact their personal physician, he added.

Canada, Soviets Sign Agreement For Mutual Talks

Canada had such an agreement only with the United States, Japan and Australia.

The agreement was signed by Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

After he signed Kosygin declared:

Prosecutors Labeled As Having 'Fantasies'

©The New York Times

Seattle — Leslie Bacon went off to jail Wednesday night after denouncing the government's prosecutors as having "paranoid fantasies" about the national capitol bombing.

As she left the courtroom, her supporters sang a new chant that will be heard a lot at radical rallies — "Free Leslie Bacon, fascist dogs, we need our sisters beside us.

In the courtroom before she was sentenced to jail for contempt of court because of her refusal to answer questions before a federal grand jury, Miss Bacon heard 18 questions read that gave an outline of the government's theory who was involved, the amount of explosive used and the place the plan was made to blow up a men's rest room in the Senate wing on March 1.

"I have no intention of answering the questions," the 19-year-old daughter of a well-to-do family at Atherton, Calif., said to Judge William N. Goodwin.

"I don't think the government's attitude is one of trying to find the truth of this matter," she said. "I answered some of them over and over again.

The government is trying to frame us and other innocent people to make their own paranoid fantasies legitimate. I don't propose to talk to them."

Turned Over To Marshal

Judge Goodwin turned her over to the U.S. Marshal to be held until the Grand Jury term ends in March 1972 or until she answers the questions.

In the hour before the sentencing, more was revealed about the government's suspicions than has been known since Miss Bacon was arrested on the night of April 27 in a house occupied by a communal group in Northwest Washington, D.C.

The questions revealed the names of nine people the government suspects of some involvement. They showed that the government suspects that a plan was made in Ann Arbor, Mich., at a meeting early in February, and that a Seattle group at the meeting had a plan.

Claim Denied

Phnom Penh (AP) —A cultural official has denied that the famous temple of Angkor Wat was damaged by Cambodian artillery fire, the government news agency reported.

Women Claimed Better Equipped For A Cold Sea

London (AP) — A British navy expert says the extra layer of fatty tissue a woman has equips her better to survive in a cold sea and therefore, "technically speaking, the lifeboat drill should be 'men and children first.'

"Whether it's humanly acceptable to all concerned is a different matter," said Lt. Cmdr. Frank Golden of the Royal Navy's air medical school Tuesday.

Kearney Tot's Death Blamed On Meningitis

Kearney (AP) — The death of two-year-old Julia C. Mickelsen in Kearney's Good Samaritan Hospital Sunday was the result of spinal meningitis, a spokesman for the hospital medical staff said.

The girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mickelsen of Kearney.

The physician said the meningitis bacteria is always present and there are human carriers of the disease in any population, but only a small percentage of people harbor the bacteria that cause meningitis.

There are "occasional sporadic cases of the disease," he said. "But one case doesn't mean that there will be an epidemic."

There are preventive measures which can be taken and persons who have been in close contact with a meningitis victim should contact their personal physician, he added.

Canada, Soviets Sign Agreement For Mutual Talks

Moscow (UPI) — Canada and the Soviet Union Wednesday signed an agreement calling for mutual consultations on foreign affairs, Canadian officials said.

The Soviet Union had such an agreement only with France among non-Communist countries.

Canada had such an agreement only with the United States, Japan and Australia.

The agreement was signed by Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

After he signed Kosygin declared:

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

I said: "One spaghetti." The waiter said: "Sure thing. Onea spaghett'."

It was a dreamy, sunshine day. We go to the North Beach Cafe to give the spaghetti a vote of confidence. North Beach Cafe of North Beach, San Francisco.

They don't bother to think up cute restaurant names here. They concentrate on the kitchen — the chef hasn't bothered to learn English But mama mia! That's some spaghetti!

Hottest was a chap named Colombo. He says he's a real estate man. The government said he was a Mafia type.

A lot of people then rose and said there was no such thing as a Mafia.

That is why "The Godfather" will become a movie without an Italian accent. We're all looking forward to seeing how they do that.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Italia! O Italia! thou who has
"The fatal gift of beauty."

Lord Byron said that. I am high on Italy. On Italian food On Italians.

If you watch the tourist ladies do this, you will be struck by the variety of sterns displayed—tourist ladies tossing coins in fountains generally wear pants. Why, I don't know. Fact though.

Anyway, there was Pucci checking the display. He rushed home and said: "Mama mia, break out the accordion! Open the vino! Put on the spicy meatballs!"

He then sat down and designed a girdle called "Viva!"

"Open my heart and you will see
"Graved inside of it, 'Italy'."

☆ ☆ ☆

"Waiter, waiter, bringa da spaghett'.

Who wrote that? I did. The North Beach Cafe poet. If I were advising a young man in love—(as poets do)—I would tell him to go to the Cafe and get a paper carton of spaghetti

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

POSTCARD by Stan Kallaplan

I said: "One spaghetti." The waiter said: "Sure thing. Onea spaghett'."

It was a dreamy, sunshine day. We go to the North Beach Cafe to give the spaghetti a vote of confidence. North Beach Cafe of North Beach, San Francisco.

They don't bother to think up cute restaurant names here. They concentrate on the kitchen — the chef hasn't bothered to learn English. But mama mia! That's some spaghetti!

Hottest was a chap named Colombo. He says he's a real estate man. The government said he was a Mafia type.

A lot of people then rose and said there was no such thing as a Mafia.

That is why "The Godfather" will become a movie without an Italian accent. We're all looking forward to seeing how they do that.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Italia! O Italia! thou who has
"The fatal gift of beauty."

Lord Byron said that. I am high on Italy. On Italian food. On Italians.

If you watch the tourist ladies do this, you will be struck by the variety of sterns displayed—tourist ladies tossing coins in fountains generally wear pants. Why, I don't know. Fact though.

Anyway, there was Pucci checking the display. He rushed home and said: "Mama mia, break out the accordion! Open the vino! Put on the spicy meatballs!"

He then sat down and designed a girdle called "Viva!"

It lifted Pucci to fame in the fashion world.

"Open my heart and you will see

☆ ☆ ☆

"Waiter, waiter, bringa da spaghett'.

Who wrote that? I did. The North Beach Cafe poet. If I were advising a young man in love—(as poets do)—I would tell him to go to the Cafe and get a paper carton of spaghetti.

Go down the street and there's a little store sells Chianti, the red blood of Tuscany.

There are hippies and hustlers. Vegetarians and speed freaks. Barkers for the topless bars. Even the cops look different in North Beach. They look looser.

I took home a bunch of spaghetti for the moppets. They share my passion for it. The pasta hero. The Silver Fox wins again.
